Mr. Kahn Is Right.

The Dying Heart.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

OTTO H. KAHN says that we, in America, are "getting more and more interested in the creation of cultural values and spiritual assets" by which highbrow words he means that we are taking kindly to art.

And that, he tells you, does not necessarily mean weakening of our manly fiber. It does not, indeed. For proof, read Benvenuto story of his own life. He could chisel fine gold, or stick a knife into an enemy with equal "artistry" in both performances.

And when Leonard Da Vinci offered his services to the African potentate it was to build fortifications, roads, bridges, weapons for war. He added, only as an afterthought, that he could also paint pictures and play on the flute, in case the sultan should be interested in such performances.

Nothing that makes the brain work is bad for "manly fiber."

CENTURIES ago scientists borrowed prisoners for vivisection and studied corpes of men condemning to die of poison.

Leonardo got peasants very drunk to study their faces, completely relaxed, and dreadful tales were told of living men tied down and dissected.

In spite of all the studying, it was not until Charles the First's time that the circulation of the blood was scientifically established.

We are too civilized to dissect living human bodies now, but we still execute criminals, and science gets all the information it can from the fate of murderers.

Scientists of the Rockefeller institute, assisted by Dr. Sweet, head of the prison hospital, plan to photograph the hearts of men in the electric chair, as the current strikes them, and learn just what happens. How long the heart fights against the current and other things may be learned if the current does not upset the cardiograph and other apparatus.

Extra electrodes will be applied to the criminal's wrists and legs, in addition to the big electrodes on the shaven head and bare calf of the leg. Criminal slang calls death by electricity "burning." The criminals will not like the new harness to be adjusted upon them, but it may be of use to others.

THOSE that trust to bootleggers and their "guaranteed pre-war" poisons should read the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.'s report on alcohol. In six years the number of deaths from alcohol increased six fold. Six times as many are killed by alcohol here, under prohibition, as in Canada.

And deaths from cirrhosis of the liver, which means slower alcoholic death, are also increasing.

Henry F. Sullivan, Marathon Swimmer, Reaches Mainland.

BELIEVED LOST

Fears for His Safety Were Felt During Morning Hours.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Feb. 1.—Henry F. Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., veteran Marathon swimmer, reached the mainland today, the second man to swim the treacherous channel from Catalina island, according to reports received here.

Word of Sullivan's feat was brought here by E. F. Chase, a commercial photographer, who said he was on one of four boats convoying the swimmer.

Searched for Missing Boat

Sullivan, who started from Catalina at 1 o'clock Monday morning, swam across the channel and landed at Point Vincente, eight miles north of Long Beach, at midnight last night, according to Chase.

One of the four boats accompanying the swimmer got lost in the heavy fog that blanketed the channel during the night, Chase reported, and after his landing Sullivan himself took one of the remaining three boats and started out in search of the missing craft.

The missing craft was located after several hours, according to Chase, and the entire party headed for a point near the Long Beach pier.

Sullivan boarded a taxicab and disappeared, Chase reported.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Feb. 1.—Friends of Henry F. Sullivan, sturdy middle-aged Lowell, Mass., swimmer, were thrilled here this morning by the report that a rowboat believed to be Sullivan's had been sighted one half mile off Point Firmin, just north of Long Beach.

Hornsby, Although Giant Player, Named Cardinal Director

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 1.—Rogers Hornsby, member of the New York Giants, was elected a director of the St. Louis Cardinals at the meeting of the board today, bearing out predictions he would retain both standings temporarily at least.

The status of Hornsby now creates a peculiar situation which, baseball men agree, must be corrected before the 1927 season begins.

A player on one team cannot hold stock in another is the contention of many, although there is no baseball rule to govern the situation.

ROBBERS LOOT McKENZIE GARAGE

Garage of Hughie McKenzie, 225 West Seventh street, was looted Sunday night, according to a report made to the police yesterday afternoon.

Ten gallons of gasoline, a kit of tools, one jack and two inner tubes, the value of which was estimated at $35, were taken from the garage, McKenzie said.

Shanghai, China, with approximately 500,000 inhabitants,—a prize at which the Nationalist forces have been aiming — is valuable to the British because of its concessions in the "foreign city" within the city. This "foreign city" is governed and policed by "Europeans," which, in the nomenclature of the Orient, includes Americans. Posted at the entrance of a park in this section there has been a sign, 'Chinese Keep Out." During the recent Shanghai rioting, the park was the first place the mob wrecked. All the views above are of street scenes in the quarter of Shanghai where the most serious troubles have been occurring.

CHINA CALLS HALT IN WAR

Combatants Forget Enemy as Chinese New Year Begins.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Twelve hundred U. S. marines were ordered today to Chinese waters, where they will be held for duty in case an emergency arises.

Orders were issued at the navy department for the dispatch of the marines from the San Diego base, where the Fourth regiment has been recruited up to near war strength.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Increased pessismism over the Chinese crisis was noted in every official quarter here today.

The problem was again threshed over at great length at this morning's cabinet meeting, and while the details discussed were not divulged it was reported that an immediate and wholesale exacuation of the troubled far eastern republic by Americans was seriously considered.

House Committee Endorses Policies Below Rio Grande

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. — The house foreign affairs committee today gave a blanket endorsement to President Coolidge's Mexican and Nicaraguan policies.

It did this by adopting the Fairchild resolution by a strict party vote of 10 to 5. Democrats promptly moved for a reconsideration of the vote.

The Democrats last week held up a decision on the resolution by walking out of committee. Minority members charged they were being "gagged."

GIRL HARPISTS ROTARY GUESTS

Marie MacQuarrie's Ensemble Attends Noon Luncheon.

A musical program, given by Miss Marie MacQuarrie's Harp Ensemble, playing an engagement at the Ceramic theatre, featured the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. at noon today.

The harpists, who were guests, in addition to Miss MacQuarrie, were Misses Helen Hughes, Anna Welch, Athel Dindorf, Geneva Latinser, Edith Salve and Helene Landon.

FORMER AUTO DEALER SEEKS THIRD TRIAL IN FRANK M'LAIN DEATH

One-time College Football Star Asks Supreme Tribunal for Leave to File Petition in Error in His Second Conviction on Charge of Manslaughter.

DATE FOR ARGUMENT PROBABLY WILL BE SET AT COLUMBUS TOMORROW

Fifth Step in East Liverpool Man's Fight Against Indeterminate Prison Sentence for Shooting of Taxicab Fleet Operator in East Liverpool on October 7, 1925.

George A. Anderson, 44, former East Liverpool automobile dealer and one-time college football star, today carried to the supreme court his fight to escape a prison sentence for his two-time conviction of manslaughter in the death of Frank McLain, 27, taxicab fleet operator.

Attorney F. E. Gosshans of East Liverpool, and George T. Farrell, of Lisbon, representing him, forwarded to the state's highest tribunal a motion asking leave to file a petition in error in the case which has twice been heard in the Columbiana county common pleas court, and twice taken to the appellate bench.

Anderson, now at liberty under $5,000 bond, was granted a 30-day stay of his indeterminate sentence of four years and eight months to 20 years in the penitentiary, by Judge W. F. Lones, at Lisbon, when he gave notice of his appeal to the supreme court.

Date for arguments on the motion before the high tribunal is expected to be set tomorrow or Thursday.

Claimed Shooting Was Accidental.

Today's action is the fifth step in the fight of Anderson, who testified at two trials in common pleas court that the shooting of McLain, which occurred in a second floor bedroom in the Anderson home, Second street, on the night of October 7, 1925, was accidental.

Anderson, first sentenced to serve from five to 20 years, was granted a second trial by the appellate court after he had been imprisoned four months in the penitentiary.

In the second trial, a jury also returned a manslaughter verdict, and the court, allowing credit for the four months' already served, fixed the penalty as four years and eight months to 20 years.

The second conviction also was carried to the appellate tribunal, but the judgment of the lower court was affirmed and a third trial refused.

Should the supreme court grant the petition of the defense, Anderson will again face trial in Columbiana county.

The new move probably will act as a stay of execution after expiration of the 30-day period originally granted.

Annexation Case Is Postponed Until Thursday Morning

Hearing of the annexation application of the East Liverpool city council, which was to have started before Judge T. D. Price of New Lexington, in common pleas court, No. 2, Lisbon, yesterday, will not get under way until Thursday morning, it was announced today.

Solicitor Frank Hoover, who will represent the city, announced today that 57 witnesses had been summoned. This is more than twice the number of witnesses called by the city when the county commissioners heard evidence here about two months ago. The number of witnesses called by the opposition could not be ascertained.

County Will Pay $11,000 for Street Jobs in Leetonia

The county will contribute $11,000 toward the surfacing of two Leetonia streets, which are a part of the inter-county highway system, under an agreement by the commissioners, Mayor Galen Lodge and Solicitor W. E. Warren, it was announced today.

The commissioners will appropriate $5,000 from the general road bond issue and $6,000 from county funds. The two thoroughfares which will be improved this year are Lisbon street, from the paved section of the Lisbon-Leetonia road to Columbia street, and Walnut street, from Main street to the paved part of the Leetonia-Washingtonville road.

The village council will pass legislation for this improvement which will be under the supervision of the commissioners.

MRS. KUNKEL, 66, LEETONIA, DIES

Mrs. Margaret A. Kunkel, 66, wife of Henry F. Kunkel, died today in her home, Main street, Letonia, after 11 days' illness.

Mrs. Kunkel, who was born at Tappin, O., was a resident of Leetonia for 28 years. She was an active member of the Presbyterian church.

She is survived by her husband, four sons, one daughter, Edward, Henry, Robert, James and Margaret, all at home; one step-daughter, Mrs. Henry Cezeda, residing in California; her father, Henry Worstall, Tappin; four brothers, Judge Grant Worstall, Athens; William Worstall, Ia.; Clyde Worstall, Jewett; Robert, Uhrichsville, and two sisters, Mrs. Jane McGuire, Tappin, and Mrs. Ida Berlin, Jewett.

OHIO YOUTH IS SHOT TO DEATH IN BATTLE WITH DRY RAIDERS

Slain Man is Identified as Dick Cooper, 22, Alleged Operator of Still Near Portsmouth—Companion Escapes.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Feb 1.—One alleged moonshiner is dead here today and another is being sought in the hilly regions of uper Twin Creek, 20 miles west of here, following a pitched rifle battle between four federal and state prohibition raiders, a deputy sheriff and two other men yesterday.

The dead man has been identified as Dick Cooper, 22, a resident of the section where the men exchanged shots. Identity of a companion has not been divulged.

Federal raiders were Ray Brown and W. G. Davis, of the Columbus district, and State Inspectors C. H. Hutchinson and Elmer Farmer. They were accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Green Willis, Scioto county.

The story of the raid told by Willis is that the men were surprised about dusk Monday while they were operating a 200-gallon still in the thick underbrush. One of the moonshiners, the deputy said, opened fire. It was returned by the raiders and after a dozen shots Cooper fell with a bullet in his right side. His companion fled.

Cooper was brought to the General hospital here and died soon after midnight.

COUNTY MOTOR CLUB OPENS FIGHT AGAINST GASOLINE TAX INCREASE

Representative Will go to Columbus to Appear at Meeting of Committee on Taxation of State Legislature.

The Columbiana County Motor club today announced it would wage a campaign against any legislative attempt to increase the Ohio gasoline tax from two to three cents.

Secretary E. M. Diehl today asked State Senator Earl R. Lewis, who, with Senator Harry M. Carpenter, represents the twenty-twenty-second district, to arrange for the appearance of a representative of the club before the committee on taxation, so that the motorists' views may be presented.

This action was authorized last night by the directors of the club at a meeting in the East Liverpool headquarters.

"The problem confronting the legislature," said Diehl, "is the raising of additional funds to meet a deficit, real and anticipated, undoubtedly caused by the shortcomings of previous legislatures or the administrative authorities, or both. It is the opinion of the local club officials that the problem should be attacked from the other end, and in place of endeavoring to find new sources of revenue or increasing that derived from old sources, the administrative department of the state should be made to live within its income and should be flatly refused permission to operate on any basis that is not good for the individual citizen to practice."

Cleveland Lawyer Speaker at Meet Of Legion Society

Eckley G. Gossett, Cleveland attorney, and grand chef de gare of the Ohio Society, 40 Hommes and 8 Chevaux, installed officers of Columbiana County Voiture No. 273, La Societe, at a meeting in the American Legion home, 633 Dresden avenue, last evening.

The officers are: Myron Griffin, Greenford, chef de gare; Cecil Pearce, East Liverpool, chef de train; S. J. Adams, Wellsville, correspondant; W. S. Foulk, East Liverpool, commissaire intendent.

Visitors from Salem, Lisbon, East Palestine, Columbiana, Wellsville and Leetonia were present. Two candidates were initiated. The next meeting of the voiture will be held at East Palestine, Wednesday, February 23.

FORMER AUTO DEALER SEEKS THIRD TRIAL IN FRANK M'LAIN DEATH

One-time College Football Star Asks Supreme Tribunal for Leave to File Petition in Error in His Second Conviction on Charge of Manslaughter.

DATE FOR ARGUMENT PROBABLY WILL BE SET AT COLUMBUS TOMORROW

Fifth Step in East Liverpool Man's Fight Against Indeterminate Prison Sentence for Shooting of Taxicab Fleet Operator in East Liverpool on October 7, 1925.

George A. Anderson, 44, former East Liverpool automobile dealer and one-time college football star, today carried to the supreme court his fight to escape a prison sentence for his two-time conviction of manslaughter in the death of Frank McLain, 27, taxicab fleet operator.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Feb 1.—One alleged moonshiner is dead here today and another is being sought in the hilly regions of uper Twin Creek, 20 miles west of here, following a pitched rifle battle between four federal and state prohibition raiders, a deputy sheriff and two other men yesterday.

The dead man has been identified as Dick Cooper, 22, a resident of the section where the men exchanged shots. Identity of a companion has not been divulged.

Federal raiders were Ray Brown and W. G. Davis, of the Columbus district, and State Inspectors C. H. Hutchinson and Elmer Farmer. They were accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Green Willis, Scioto county.

The story of the raid told by Willis is that the men were surprised about dusk Monday while they were operating a 200-gallon still in the thick underbrush. One of the moonshiners, the deputy said, opened fire. It was returned by the raiders and after a dozen shots Cooper fell with a bullet in his right side. His companion fled.

Cooper was brought to the General hospital here and died soon after midnight.

COUNTY MOTOR CLUB OPENS FIGHT AGAINST GASOLINE TAX INCREASE

Representative Will go to Columbus to Appear at Meeting of Committee on Taxation of State Legislature.

The Columbiana County Motor club today announced it would wage a campaign against any legislative attempt to increase the Ohio gasoline tax from two to three cents.

Secretary E. M. Diehl today asked State Senator Earl R. Lewis, who, with Senator Harry M. Carpenter, represents the twenty-twenty-second district, to arrange for the appearance of a representative of the club before the committee on taxation, so that the motorists' views may be presented.

This action was authorized last night by the directors of the club at a meeting in the East Liverpool headquarters.

"The problem confronting the legislature," said Diehl, "is the raising of additional funds to meet a deficit, real and anticipated, undoubtedly caused by the shortcomings of previous legislatures or the administrative authorities, or both. It is the opinion of the local club officials that the problem should be attacked from the other end, and in place of endeavoring to find new sources of revenue or increasing that derived from old sources, the administrative department of the state should be made to live within its income and should be flatly refused permission to operate on any basis that is not good for the individual citizen to practice."

Cleveland Lawyer Speaker at Meet Of Legion Society

Eckley G. Gossett, Cleveland attorney, and grand chef de gare of the Ohio Society, 40 Hommes and 1 Chevaux, installed officers of Columbiana County Voiture No. 273, La Societe, at a meeting in the American Legion home, 633 Dresden avenue, last evening.

The officers are: Myron Griffin, Greenford, chef de gare; Cecil Pearce, East Liverpool, chef de train; S. J. Adams, Wellsville, correspondant; W. S. Foulk, East Liverpool, commissaire intendent.

Visitors from Salem, Lisbon, East Palestine, Columbiana, Wellsville and Leetonia were present. Two candidates were initiated. The next meeting of the voiture will be held at East Palestine, Wednesday, February 23.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT.

Once embarked upon the way of candor, it is difficult to know exactly where to stop. It was not easy for me, in face of the friendly attitude of the girl to whom I had said so much that was entirely true, to pull up short and meet her with flat denial or indirect deceit in regard to the one point she desired to establish. The edge of my caution—it will be noted that so far I had told her nothing which she did not exactly know—was rapidly being blunted, and for a moment I was tempted quite naturally to tell her the whole story. Then suddenly I remembered the sword of the Samurai, and saw in my mind's eye the figure of the Center, which corrected any weakness into which I might have been betrayed.

"I have already told you about the handkerchief," I said. "It went to the laundry, where I recovered it. You captured me as I left the convent, and you know the rest."

She flushed with anger, clenching her hands involuntarily.

"You are lying to me," she burst out.

There was a moment of silence, after which she rose and walked away from me down the room. At the end she turned, having mastered her fit of anger, and resumed her old expression of appeal.

"Listen," she said urgently, "I have already said that you are playing a dangerous game. It is worse than that. If you refuse to tell me the truth, the consequences will be terrible—not only for you but for me."

I was dazed at this new development, but suspected some further trick.

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"The Center has instructed me to get this information. If I fail——"

She broke off trembling, and a sudden dread descended upon me. Could this be play acting? She stood before me with horror on her face, her small frame shaking with terror.

"You must tell me," she went on desperately, collecting all her efforts for a last appeal. "Why should you refuse? You say you are not a detective. You have no professional honor or interest at stake. Tell me where you have put the handkerchief. If you refuse——"

Again she broke off as though she shrank from completing the sentence.

I was more moved by this time than I cared to acknowledge—alarmed to think that she might be in serious danger, and at the same time queerly glad to find her suddenly allied, as it were, with me. I was prompted to explore the nature of her confederacy with the gang.

"Tell me," I urged, "what are you doing with these people, anyway?"

"That is my affair," she replied; "you have no right to my confidence since you refuse to give me your own."

I rose impatiently. It was an impasse, and I could see no way out for either of us.

"You may well be impatient," she said in reply to my sudden gesture. "Our time is almost up. They gave me twenty minutes in which to persuade you, and it seems that I have failed."

I made no answer to this, but puzzled and discouraged.

Suddenly she thrust forward her two hands.

"Robert!" she urged.

The appeal was so direct and apparently so frank and impulsive that in a moment I was grasping the hands she offered.

"You will tell me, Robert—now, at once, before it is too late."

I looked down to avoid her entreaty. Heaven knows that in that moment I wanted to tell her, but I though of Claypole and was resolved to say nothing of the handkerchief till the last extremity.

"I'm sorry," I said. "I can only repeat what I have already said."

"Do you know what they will do if your refuse?" She said in a low voice.

"I think it very unlikely that they will do anything at all."

"I will tell you what they will do," she said in a toneless voice. "You will be taken to the Black Room and—" Her voice faltered. "It happened once before." And she shuddered uncontrollably.

"What do you mean?" I said bewildered, a sudden terror at my heart.

"They torture people in the Black Room," she answered.

"Yes, brutally, mercilessly."

"But who will dare to do this?"

"The man who dared to bring you here. He would do anything to get what he wants."

"The Center?"

She bent her head.

"But why should he do this?" I said bewildered. "It is incredible. I can't believe it."

"You have got to believe it," she urged. "You must believe it here and now and realize what it means. He will have you tortured and it will go on until you tell him what he wants to know or until—until——"

She broke off and her lips quivered.

"I couldn't bear it," she whispered. "I couldn't bear to see you suffer."

Her distress, being all on my behalf, almost unmanned me. It was the first indication of any real feeling or sympathy she had shown. Moreover, it convinced me as nothing else could of my desperate situation. There was no mistaking her horror of the things that were done in the Black Room.

Presently she raised her head, as though listening for sounds outside, and at that moment the door opened, and Baldassare with the butler and four Japanese servants appeared.

They immediately sprang at me, seized my hands, and a moment later, before I could do anything to prevent it, a pair of handcuffs clicked over my wrists.

Baldassare addressed himself to Patience.

"Has he confessed?" he asked.

She did not reply, and he turned his crooked eye upon me.

"I have nothing to confess," I replied.

He made a sign to the two Japanese servants, who, taking me by the elbows, began urging me towards the door.

"Vorvats," said the butler behind me.

And Baldassare, paying no further heed to Patience, who sank weeping upon a chair, led the way at once from the room.

We descended two flights of stairs and reached a large apartment on the ground floor. It was bare, save for a table and a chair standing to the side of some heavy black velvet curtains which completely cut off one end. At the table was the Center. He looked up as we came in nad moved his head slightly whereat Baldassare quitted the room.

"So, Mr. Quexter," he said. "I tell you I find way. You strong man. Stand many blows, but Japanese torture forms soon make strong men very affable. Everything quite ready now. I give you small time to tell us, perhaps, where is handkerchief. Then we draw apart convenient curtains and begin."

I looked as he spoke towards the curtains. There was a faint whirring from behind them; and, even as I turned to look, a thin yellow hand glided between the heavy folds, clutching the velvet as though making ready to draw them apart.

Half a miute elapsed, during which the dead silence of the room was broken only by the faint noise and rustle of invisible preparations.

"Now, Mr. Quexter," said the little Japanese, "I give signal to show painful tableau. I strike gong and expose ingenius torture forms. Everything now quite correct and in best possible order."

He raised the hammer of the going to give the signal, but I was destined never to know exactly what horrors had been prepared for me behind the velvet curtains.

For at this moment there was a sudden interruption at the back of the room, and instinctively I turned my head. Baldassare was lumbering towards us, his face shining with excitement. In his hand was something white and soiled with red specks on it.

"Mr. Center," he said, "it's all right. Here is the real handkerchief."

WEIGHT LIMIT ON AUTO TRUCKS

State Highway Bureau Places Signs on Intercounty Roads.

Signs have been placed at the intersection and at many other parts of intercounty highways in this county by the state highway department limiting the weight of trucks and their loads to seven and one-half tons. As explained by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk, the weight of the truck and the load combined must not exceed seven and one-half tons.

The Columbus department has also filed similar notice with Sheriff George Wright, with the request that violations of this section of the state road laws be followed by the filing of charges against truck owners.

Fines collected under this law are credited to the county road fund, but it is pointed out by the state highway department that the damage done to roads at this season of the year because of overweight costs more for repair than the fine specified.

To Men Around 40 Who Want To Keep Young

THIS PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT IS ESPECIALLY IMPORTANT

In early youth, your internal organs have marvelous powers of recovery, no matter how they are misused or abused. Time was, when you could be up all night and be fresh on the job in the morning. But, as a man passes forty signs begin to show of the constant wear and tear on kidneys, liver, bladder, stomach, nerves and prostate gland. If you notice such distressing symptoms as lame back, rheumatic twinges, pains in the head, sour stomach, biliousness, high blood pressure, frequent getting up-nights, embarrassing nervous weakness and debility, you owe it to yourself to start getting into your system at once the marvelous, restorative Radium power supplied by ARIUM Tablets.

By producing a vitalizing internal exercise of the glands and organs ARIUM Tablets help to quickly bring back healthy, normal, youthful action, just as Nature intended. Amazing reports from physicians and other users gives convincing proof of their remarkable effects. Mr. A. M. H. of Lancaster, Pa., says: "I feel like a three-year-old since taking ARIUM Tablets. I am stronger in every way." Mrs. A. K of New Bern, N. C., writes: "I feel very grateful; my husband is improving." Mr. S. J. C. of Ontario, Can., states: "Before taking ARIUM, I could hardly do anything. Now I feel so much stronger, I can work all day and not get tired out." A multitude of alarming symptoms often quickly disappear. You should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day.

NOTE: The Associated Radium Chemists, Inc., of New York, which supplies druggists with ARIUM guarantees successful and satisfactory results from its progressive use in every case or money refunded, and also that a definite quantity of genuine radium is used in its preparation. ARIUM is easy and economical to take and may now be readily obtained in this city from any good druggist such as

Chas. T. Larkins, Carnahan's, Herche's Drug Store and Mathews.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative", because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Waited Long for This Discovery!

Cleans Inside, and Pores Free from Any Taint

"I SEARCHED a long time for any real relief from my bad auto-intoxication. Strong purgatives just drove the poisons into my perspiration until I felt like avoiding people. I'm all serene now, just through occasional use of—

CASCARETS

All the trick laxatives in the world can't tempt people who understand the properties of cascara.

A hundred different drugs will purge the bowels, but a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew!

Your grandparents took "salts," and slowly washed the mucous membrane with the waste! Mineral oils are better but they leave the coating that your blood must then carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

Don't get in the habit of taking medicine for constipation—or even for auto-intoxication. If you have the habit, stop it. A candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them and the taste tempts most grown-ups to take "more." And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in the warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight! All druggists, 10c & 25c.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative", because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Columbiana

A meeting of the Fairfield Township Farm Bureau will be held Tuesday evening, February 8, at the Centralized school building, south of Columbiana. C. C. Bair, of the state federation will be the principal speaker. The Betsy Ross Sewing club under the leadership of Mrs. H. I. McBurney, will present a two-act playlet as a part of the program. Musical numbers and other speakers will also complete the entertainment.

Sorosis society met recently at the home of Mrs. Roy E. Weaver, Fairfield avenue. Mrs. Solon Morris read a paper on Drama in China, and a one-act play, "Partners in Spain," acted by members of the club, was much enjoyed. The next meeting will be on February 9th at the home of Mrs. Fred Theiss, South Elm street.

Carl Rupert, a student in a Chicago electrical school, is visiting with his mother, Mrs. James Orr, and family, Fairfield avenue.

The little daughter of Mrs. Avis Malone, Middle street, is ill with the grippe.

J. C. Snyder of Cincinnati spent the week-end in Columbiana with friends.

W. O. Wallace has been called to East Palestine by the serious illness of his mother.

Hanover

Raymond Sinclair has accepted a position in Cadiz.

Dr. Gruber of Lisbon called here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Bower, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Louden, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hole, were in Canton Thursday evening.

Mrs. Ray Pilmer was in Alliance Wednesday.

Mrs. Helen Reeder is ill at the home of her son, E. E. Reeder.

Mr. H. O. Wilson was hostess to the Jolly Matron club at her home Wednesday evening.

Albert Louden was in Cleveland Wednesday.

Signal

The Misses Rachel and Katherine Lavely, of Akron, spent Sunday with their parents.

Lloyd Wousetler is ill at his home here.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde De Rhodes, a daughter, January 16. She has been named Ruth Grace. Mrs. De Rhodes was formerly Miss Olive Granger.

Malva Marlatt of Aliquippa, Pa., spent Sunday with his parents.

R. W. Dickey and J. W. Burton spent the week end at their home here.

Waited Long for This Discovery!

Cleans Inside, and Pores Free from Any Taint

"I SEARCHED a long time for any real relief from my bad auto-intoxication. Strong purgatives just drove the poisons into my perspiration until I felt like avoiding people. I'm all serene now, just through occasional use of—

CASCARETS

All the trick laxatives in the world can't tempt people who understand the properties of cascara.

A hundred different drugs will purge the bowels, but a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew!

Your grandparents took "salts," and slowly washed the mucous membrane with the waste! Mineral oils are better but they leave the coating that your blood must then carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

Don't get in the habit of taking medicine for constipation—or even for auto-intoxication. If you have the habit, stop it. A candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them and the taste tempts most grown-ups to take "more." And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in the warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight! All druggists, 10c & 25c.

French Currency Stabilized

There recently arrived in New York from France two shipments of gold bullion aggregating $24,000,000.

Here is substantial evidence that France at last is on a gold basis.

The fluctuations of the French franc since the war are well known. It was this, as much as anything, that made French business so unsettled and French solvency so doubtful. From its normal value of about 19 cents, the franc fell, at its lowest, to less than three cents. It was widely feared that the franc would follow the German mark, working havoc on French investments.

Fortunately the inflation has been stopped. When Poincare assumed the premiership he promised to stabilize the franc at around four cents. That former fire-eater and sword-rattler seems to have been steadied himself by his new responsibility, and has actually given steadiness to the national currency. Recently the franc has been stationary at about 3.95 cents. Four cents would be better, because it would make simpler reckoning. But the main thing—in fact, the only permamently important thing—in any monetary unit is stability.

French finance now begins to look almost as solid as British finance. It is a good omen for French prosperity and for European prosperity, insuring more satisfactory trade relations. It may lead to a satisfactory adjustment of the French-American debt

New Life For Electric Lines

Electric interurban railways are coming back. In recent years they have been hard pressed by motor vehicles. Statistics show that the private automobile has given them about four times as much competition as the motor bus, and the two combined have made the electric railways' profits vanish and their very existence precarious.

The railways now have got their second wind and are going to fight back, not in any mean way, but by giving better service and by using the most up-to-date sales methods.

First they are improving the cars themselves, making them better looking and more comfortable. Next, they are advertising extensively and interestingly by means of car cards, station cards, newspaper publicity, safety meetings, new uniforms for conductors, and so on. They are telling everybody whom they hope it may concern that electric transportation is more dependable in all weathers than motor transportation, that it is safer and cheaper, having its own right of way and its own well-trained operators.

It is probably true that the electric railways have a real place to fill in the modern transportation system. But in this competitive world they have to do something more than keep their cars moving. The public likes to be told all about what it gets for its money. That's the result of the era of super-advertising and super-salesmanship of recent years.

Thousands Of Planes

By July, 1928, the department of commerce estimates, there will be 1,000 airplanes using the transcontinental airway between New York and San Francisco.

Only 76 of them will be mail planes. Started as a mail route, that great transportation line is expected to be utilized mainly by private enterprise, for the swift carrying of passengers and merchandise.

It is a fine example of what may be accomplished by wise governmental pioneering in a new and difficult field. Public enterprise leads, and private enterprise follows, justifies the work and carries it to completion.

Similar development is expected on various other routes which are not yet so well advanced. In the coming year 3,400 miles will be added to the federal-lighted airways. Increased public interest and willingness shown to invest private capital insure rapid progress from now on. Within five years there should be many thousand commercial planes operating on many lines, all over the country, as regularly as trains.

Good Drama Without Censor

The campaign for improving theatre productions by activity from within instead of censorship from without is proceeding in New York. It is said that 76 of the city's 78 producers are represented in the organization of theatrical people studying the situation. Winthrop Ames is at the head of a committee considering ways and means of bettering the stage. The work was set in motion at the request of Mayor Walker, who suggested that producers themselves take the responsibility of stage censorship

It would perhaps be a good idea if they stopped referring to it as censorship, too. Seeking and producing better plays and eliminating cheap, vulgar or indecent features, ought to come under the head of good dramatic production rather than censorship. The one does away with the need of the other.

From his pictures, John D. Rockefeller seems to have the longest face in America. And from his account books, the longest head.

"Why do we go on erecting higher and higher buildings?" asks an architect. Maybe because we like to look down on other people.

According to my friend, Tom Mason, who knows as many good stories as anybody on earth, it was the last night of the revival meeting. The evangelist was going strong. His subject was eternal damnation. With all the eloquence at his command, he urged the congregation to flee from the wrath to come.

"Ah, my friends," he exclaimed, "on that last dread day there will be weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth!"

In a rear pew stood up an elderly woman.

"Elder," she said tremulously, "I ain't got no teeth."

"Madam!" he shouted back. 'Teeth will be provided!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—This has been a tough winter—close up of a lone wolf howling—for the gigolo. In the vaselined world of Broadway he is becoming almost extinct. Publicity has puffed him to a contemptuous scorning even among gleaners and wastrels along the way that is white.

In many haunts where his tuxedoed presence was once welcomed he meets an aloof "Sorry, no table tonight." The gigolo's job of hiring himself out to women for the evening has finally received a frown from the street that accepts almost anything.

There are hundreds of these nimble-footed, pommaded fops who in a post-war madness lived rather extravagantly in this debasing manner. The gigolo danced attention upon foolish women for so much an hour while practicing sly blackmail on the side.

Many of these sordid apartment house jewel robberies have been traced to his door. He boasted of conquests and was totally impervious to the glances of those who watched his female companion pay the check. He considered it quite smart.

A number of them were taken to Europe and swank watering places by lonely women of wealth. They were furnished sufficiently with funds to wear the smartest habiliments and stop at best hotels. In exchange they fawned upon and danced with those who paid them.

Despised by their sex, they retaliated with the affable sneer and continued to intrude in otherwise respectable gatherings. A few were Americans, but chiefly they were South Americans with sleek black hair and olive-tinted complexions.

There was a lady swathed in furs who stood expectantly in the reception room of a glittering cafe waiting for one whom she had paid in advance for the evening. After a two hours wait she said to the head waiter: "Stood up by a gigolo: I wish I were fit to go home to my children!"

Add similes: As rare as a fat, blonde gigolo.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., seems to have broken definitely with his family over choosing a journalistic career. One can imagine Vanderbilt pere over the family coffee cups bemoaning the day "our boy disgraced us and took up newspaper work." However, the senior Vanderbilt was no slouch in vulgar trade himself. He is said to have garnered some eleven millions dollars from sundry railroad inventions. When he perfects a train window that will open we shall forgive him for his contemptuous attitude toward our trade.

Someone tells me a popular game of the drawing rooms is to stand five paces away and try to toss single playing cards into the open maw of a silk hat. To make it difficult the tossee is primed with a few cocktails.

A Park Avenue beauty parlor is swiping my style, if any, for its ads. Thus: "The chic luncheon hour. Pampered canines. Colossal chrysanthemums. Prepossessing creations of the Parisain Couturier. Caressingly purring cars. Enchanting debutantes. Matrons perennially young in contour."

It must be quite a place!

A stunt cafe has opened on East 44th street with the slogan: "The worst meal in town and the slowest service." And is doing a brisk business.

And one notices a falling off in attendance among those happy-go-lucky noble Russian exiles with fan-shaped beards who seemed to spend most of their times in cellar places. Can it be they have gone to work?

HASKIN'S LETTER

Women Tackle Crime Problem.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1.—The women of the United States are tackling the crime problem. As a first step, they are making, through the national organization of their numerous and various clubs, a survey of the work of the criminal courts of the country, with especial reference to the number of cases presented for trial, the number of acquittals and convictions, the sentences imposed, and the proportion of those sentenced who serve their terms.

And in order to equip themselves to assist in making the survey, to understand its revelations, and to form judgments as to what should be done about it, thousands of serious-minded women in the several states are taking an intensive course on the subject, "Know Your Courts." This is presented to them in the form of a quiz on criminal court procedure and agencies for the prevention, detection, investigation, and prosecution of crime, and the punishment of criminals.

This quiz includes 61 questions, but no answers are furnished. The women interested are directed to get the answers from their local attorneys, and in no case to be satisfied with the information supplied by a single lawyer but to get the answers from several sources and then check them one against another.

Under the head of crime prevention the women are asked to inform themselves as to how the policing forces in their communities are constituted, whether by the federal government, the state, the county, or the township, how the members of the force are appointed or elected, how they are organized for work, to whom they are responsible, to what extent they are controlled by politics, and, if they are not functioning satisfactorily, what is the matter with them.

How juvenile offenders are prosecuted, the relations between the juvenile courts and social workers, and whether there are any private agencies of prevention, such as the Florence Crittenton Home, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, are further subjects to be investigated.

Prosecution Most Important.

In the matter of crime investigation and detection the women are expected to ascertain merely what officials are charged with those duties, how they are chosen, their character and training, and whether there are any private detective agencies in their localities.

But when it comes to the prosecution and punishment of criminals, the women are given a guide to their study that is comprehensible to a degree. Those who follow it and master it will probably be better informed than the average lawyer, and will certainly be qualified to discuss intelligently proposed modifications in our judicial system which are being urged by the legal lights of the nation, headed by Chief Justice William H Taft.

They will learn what courts in their respective counties have jurisdiction in criminal cases, to what courts appeals may be taken, how many judges there are in these courts, the title of the official who prosecutes criminal cases, the number of his deputies, the records that are kept of his work, how many unfinished cases he has on hand, and whether the prosecutor works in co-operation with other courts, with

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1.—The women of the United States are tackling the crime problem. As a first step, they are asking, through the national organization of their numerous and various clubs, a survey of the work of the criminal courts of the country, with especial reference to the number of cases presented for trial, the number of acquittals and convictions, the sentences imposed, and the proportion of those sentenced who serve their terms.

And in order to equip themselves to assist in making the survey, to understand its revelations, and to form judgments as to what should be done about it, thousands of serious-minded women in the several states are taking an intensive course on the subject, "Know Your Courts." This is presented to them in the form of a quiz on criminal court procedure and agencies for the prevention, detection, investigation, and prosecution of crime, and the punishment of criminals.

This quiz includes 61 questions, but no answers are furnished. The women interested are directed to get the answers from their local attorneys, and in no case to be satisfied with the information supplied by a single lawyer but to get the answers from several sources and then check them one against another.

Under the head of crime prevention the women are asked to inform themselves as to how the policing forces in their communities are constituted, whether by the federal government, the state, the county, or the township, how the members of the force are appointed or elected, how they are organized for work, to whom they are responsible, to what extent they are controlled by politics, and, if they are not functioning satisfactorily, what is the matter with them.

How juvenile offenders are prosecuted, the relations between the juvenile courts and social workers, and whether there are any private agencies of prevention, such as the Florence Crittenton Home, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, are further subjects to be investigated.

Prosecution Most Important.

In the matter of crime investigation and detection the women are expected to ascertain merely what officials are charged with those duties, how they are chosen, their character and training, and whether there are any private detective agencies in their localities.

But when it comes to the prosecution and punishment of criminals, the women are given a guide to their study that is comprehensible to a degree. Those who follow it and master it will probably be better informed than the average lawyer, and will certainly be qualified to discuss intelligently proposed modifications in our judicial system which are being urged by the legal lights of the nation, headed by Chief Justice William H Taft.

They will learn what courts in their respective counties have jurisdiction in criminal cases, to what courts appeals may be taken, how many judges there are in these courts, the title of the official who prosecutes criminal cases, the number of his deputies, the records that are kept of his work, how many unfinished cases he has on hand, and whether the prosecutor works in co-operation with other courts, with

CONSTITUTIONAL CLASH OVER SMITH AND VARE LOOMS

COURT OF LAST RESORT—PUBLIC OPINION—RULES

Illinois Man's Claim May Come Before Senate Again.

MAY TAKE OATH

Supreme Court Has no Power to Review Action.

By William K. Hutchinson.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The greatest constitutional clash between the federal government and the states of the Union over their constitutional rights since the Civil war loomed today as the probable outcome if the senate permanently excludes Col. Frank L. Smith and Representative William S. Vare from its membership.

The clash may never be settled judiciously, even though both Smith and Vare carry their fights into the courts, but the ultimate verdict undoubtedly will be rendered by America's court of last resort—the court of public opinion, as expressed at elections. This became certain when friends of both senatorial nominees declared they would carry their fights for vindication into senatorial campaigns in other states, if they are barred from the senate.

The question of excluding Smith probably will come before the senate for the second time within the next two weeks.

New Fight Expected.

A poll by International News Service revealed the senate elections committee favorably inclined toward endorsing the plea of Smith that he might be seated at once. Of the committee's 13 members, eight either voted or were paired in favor of seating Smith when he first presented his credentials. Only five voted against giving the oath of office.

If the committee drafts a report, when it meets tomorrow, urging the immediate seating of Smith, it will provoke a new fight on the floor of the senate. All indications, however, point to the senate again denying the oath of office, although the majority may not be as great as before. The committee then will investigate the charges against him, before filing a final report, which may not reach the senate until just before the March 4 adjustment.

The threat of Smith's counsel that he and Representative Vare might become "senators-at-large" for the next six years, if denied admission, meanwhile aroused only amusement among the constitutional lawyers in the senate. It was the Smith contention that, since he received his credentials from the people of Illinois, the senate could not take them away and the governor could never appoint a successor until his term expires. This contention drew a sharp contradiction from the senate's constitutional authorities as did the suggestion that the supreme court might compel the senate to admit both Smith and Vare.

Agreed Upon Three Things.

There were three things the senate authorities agreed upon, regardless of party lines. Those were:

1—The United States supreme court has no power to review any action of the senate, even though some senators feel the senate acted unconstitutionally in barring Smith from his oath.

2—If Smith and Vare are excluded permanently, they can never attend sessions of the senate, vote upon legislation, even enter the chamber, or receive a salary and no court can reverse that decision.

3—The governors of Illinois and Pennsylvania can appoint legally successors to Smith and Vare, after they are excluded, if the senate at the same time declared vacancies exist in the senatorial delegations from those two states, and no court can block the appointments.

ELECTRICIAN HURT IN MINE

Earl Noltman, 32, Lisbon, Victim of Accident.

Earl Nottman, 32, Lisbon electrician, is in a critical condition in Central clinic at Salem, as the result of injuries suffered when caught beneath a heavy fall of slate while at work in the mines of the Beaver Coal and Clay company at Coleman, two miles west of Lisbon, yesterday.

Nottman and William Muhlman were stringing wires when they heard the roof of the mine crack. Realizing that a fall was imminent, Muhlman stepped back, but Nottman stooped to gather up a pick. He was crushed.

Fellow miners extricated the injured man. His back and neck were injured. The victim was removed to Salem in the Eells ambulance, after being attended by Dr. H. W. Bennett, Lisbon.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Further improvement was noted in stock prices in early trading today as the result of short coverings and speculative buying of the shares which led in Monday's closing rally.

A decline of about $38,000,000 in brokers loans was hailed as an improvement in the money situation, which, however, was not in need of much improvement. It also reflected the Wall Street view of the liquidation of margin accounts and the transfer of stocks "from weak to strong hands."

The Standard and independent oils made a feeble response to very favorable surveys of the "statistical position" of the oil industry issued by various experts. With production up 400,000 barrels daily compared with last year at this time, oil consumption has been sufficient, not only to absorb this huge production but to cut down reserves materially.

WHEN YOUR FOOD FAILS TO DIGEST

And Gurgles up in Sour Risings or Heartburn

Try a little diapepsin. Beats the world for stomach comfort. Hard to tell what upsets a stomach. Sometimes it's milk or fresh bread or steak and onions. Almost anything will cause gas, biliousness or heartburn. But whatever it is diapepsin works like magic. It actually digests food, rests the stomach, absorbs the sour, acid, brashy risings from whatever cause. Even in the morning, if you get up with a coated tongue, feel nauseated and the thought of breakfast repels food, one or two diapepsins will make you feel good and want to eat.

Anyone at the mercy of restaurants and lunch counters can fortify their stomach against trouble with one or two diapepsins after eating.

Harold Wooden Files Action Against Willite Company.

Harold Wooden, of this city, through his attorney, Ben L. Bennett, has instituted a suit in common pleas court at Lisbon for $20,000 damages and $150 for medical attention against the Ohio Willite Paving and Surfacing company for injuries alleged to have been received last March in a traffic accident on the Pleasant Heights hill.

Wooden claims that he and Sanford Bailey were walking the Lincoln highway near Pleasant Heights when they accepted an invitation to ride with Eugene Larkins, driver of a truck owned by the contracting firm. While descending the hill Larkins lost control of the truck and Wooden was thrown to the road, his arm broken in two places, his right knee lacerated, his hip and left hand injured. He alleges that he was confined in the City hospital for two weeks because of his injuries.

Police Seek Three Boys for Alleged Theft of Sedan

Police today were searching for three boys, described as being between 12 and 14 years of age, who are alleged to have stolen a Jewett sedan, belonging to C. V. Beatty, building contractor, while it was parked near the residence of Clifford Bough, College street, at 11:30 o'clock last night.

Charles Burdette, Lisbon taxi operator, was traveling the concrete road from Midland to Smiths Ferry shortly before last midnight when, he said, another machine struck his car at a point just east of Smith's Ferry. As he stepped from his automobile to investigate, Burdette alleged that three boys jumped from the other car and fled in the direction of East Liverpool.

Burdette reported the accident to the Midland police and the Beatty car was removed to a Midland garage. Beatty had reported the theft of his car to the local police and later it was learned that his car had figured in the Smiths Ferry crash.

Mrs. Cullen had sued for $25,000.

Mrs. Cullen claims to have received injuries to her spine, neck, head and also to one eye when the car started as she was about to step on the rear platform.

SEVEN TAXICAB LICENSES ISSUED

Seven licenses for taxicabs have been issued by Mayor Ralph Benedum in keeping with the taxi regulating ordinance recently enacted by council, which became effective today.

Five of these licenses went to Albert McLean of the McLean-Yellow Cam company, while two were issued to Carl Hyatt. The fee for each car is $10 per year. Bonds providing for a $10,000 liability insurance and $1,000 property damage must also be posted by the operators for each car.

The fares are fixed at 35 cents for the first one-third of a mile and 10 cents for each additional one-third mile.

"PRIVATE IZZY MURPHY" IS HIT

If you are suffering from ingrowing sympathy. If your world has narrowed down until it includes only "you and your wife, your son John and his wife." If, like the old Quaker, you say to your spouse, "Everybody's queer but thee and me—and sometimes I think thee's a little queer!" If your milk of human kindness is evaporating. If you find yourself skimming it or watering it—go to see "Private Izzy Murphy," now at the Ceramic theatre.

If you have begun to wonder whether the constitution of the United States really meant what it said when it spoke of this country as "a haven for the oppressed of all nations, without regard to race, color or previous condition of servitude." If you fellow Americans who happen to be of different ancestry than your own have degenerated in your mind into Wop, Bohunk, etc., then by all means go to see George Jessel in "Private Izzy Murphy."

Some are born "Murphy," some achieve worthiness of it, and some have it thrust upon them. Private Izzy got it in none of these ways. He simply took it. He cast the ancient and honorable name of "Goldberg" into the discard, taking in its place a name which would be a business asset in the Irish neighborhood of New York in which he had his delicatessen.

Izzy, with true Jewish reverence, had brought his parents from Russia as soon as his business venture had prospered. Of his change in name they never knew. Of his monetary dealings with the doughty Cohannigan of the Irish-American Packing company they knew and approved. But of their beloved Izzy's yearnings for the heart and hand of pretty Eileen, Cohannigan's daughter, they were blissfully ignorant.

Then came the World War and Izzy Murphy away overseas, with the Irish "Old 69th." Izzy, a private, first-class. A Murphy of the Murphies. Doing his bit valiantly. Wounded. In hospital. Then to his parents the crushing telegram, "Killed in Action."

How the hearts of all were as one in those days. Common humanity united by the bond of common suffering.

But the day when the gallant "69th"—what was I ft of them—came marching up Fifth Avenue, all arches and flags and cheering thousands, and drifting confetti Papa and Mamma Goldberg out to see them all, broken-hearted for the loss of their own, but glad for the others, who could welcome sons back. Then, glory be, who should they see but Izzy, their straight, their proud, their handsome Izzy—quick-stepping it among the Murphies and the Kellies and the Coogans!

End Oily, Sallow Skin

A little Calonite powder sprinkled on a wet cloth and rubbed gently over the face each night ends shiny, oily skins—puts new life into sallow skin, and cleans the pores of all dust, dirt and prevents blackheads. It makes the skin feel refreshed and bright, so you will enjoy a good night's rest.

CONSTITUTIONAL CLASH OVER SMITH AND VARE LOOMS

COURT OF LAST RESORT—PUBLIC OPINION—RULES

Illinois Man's Claim May Come Before Senate Again.

MAY TAKE OATH

Supreme Court Has no Power to Review Action.

By William K. Hutchinson.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The greatest constitutional clash between the federal government and the states of the Union over their constitutional rights since the Civil war loomed today as the probable outcome if the senate permanently excludes Col. Frank L. Smith and Representative William S. Vare from its membership.

The clash may never be settled judiciously, even though both Smith and Vare carry their fights into the courts, but the ultimate verdict undoubtedly will be rendered by America's court of last resort—the court of public opinion, as expressed at elections. This became certain when friends of both senatorial nominees declared they would carry their fights for vindication into senatorial campaigns in other states, if they are barred from the senate.

The question of excluding Smith probably will come before the senate for the second time within the next two weeks.

New Fight Expected.

A poll by International News Service revealed the senate elections committee favorably inclined toward endorsing the plea of Smith that he might be seated at once. Of the committee's 13 members, eight either voted or were paired in favor of seating Smith when he first presented his credentials. Only five voted against giving the oath of office.

If the committee drafts a report, when it meets tomorrow, urging the immediate seating of Smith, it will provoke a new fight on the floor of the senate. All indications, however, point to the senate again denying the oath of office, although the majority may not be as great as before. The committee then will investigate the charges against him, before filing a final report, which may not reach the senate until just before the March 4 adjustment.

The threat of Smith's counsel that he and Representative Vare might become "senators-at-large" for the next six years, if denied admission, meanwhile aroused only amusement among the constitutional lawyers in the senate. It was the Smith contention that, since he received his credentials from the people of Illinois, the senate could not take them away and the governor could never appoint a successor until his term expires. This contention drew a sharp contradiction from the senate's constitutional authorities as did the suggestion that the supreme court might compel the senate to admit both Smith and Vare.

WHEN YOUR FOOD FAILS TO DIGEST

And Gurgles up in Sour Risings or Heartburn

Try a little diapepsin. Beats the world for stomach comfort. Hard to tell what upsets a stomach. Sometimes it's milk or fresh bread or steak and onions. Almost anything will cause gas, biliousness or heartburn. But whatever it is diapepsin works like magic. It actually digests food, rests the stomach, absorbs the sour, acid, brashy risings from whatever cause. Even in the morning, if you get up with a coated tongue, feel nauseated and the thought of breakfast repels food, one or two diapepsins will make you feel good and want to eat.

Anyone at the mercy of restaurants and lunch counters can fortify their stomach against trouble with one or two diapepsins after eating.

Get a 60-cent package of Pape's Diapepsin at any drug store. You'll enjoy the effect.

Harold Wooden Files Action Against Willite Company.

Harold Wooden, of this city, through his attorney, Ben L. Bennett, has instituted a suit in common pleas court at Lisbon for $20,000 damages and $150 for medical attention against the Ohio Willite Paving and Surfacing company for injuries alleged to have been received last March in a traffic accident on the Pleasant Heights hill.

Wooden claims that he and Sanford Bailey were walking the Lincoln highway near Pleasant Heights when they accepted an invitation to ride with Eugene Larkins, driver of a truck owned by the contracting firm. While descending the hill Larkins lost control of the truck and Wooden was thrown to the road, his arm broken in two places, his right knee lacerated, his hip and left hand injured. He alleges that he was confined in the City hospital for two weeks because of his injuries.

Police Seek Three Boys for Alleged Theft of Sedan

Police today were searching for three boys, described as being between 12 and 14 years of age, who are alleged to have stolen a Jewett sedan, belonging to C. V. Beatty, building contractor, while it was parked near the residence of Clifford Bough, College street, at 11:30 o'clock last night.

Charles Burdette, Lisbon taxi operator, was traveling the concrete road from Midland to Smiths Ferry shortly before last midnight when, he said, another machine struck his car at a point just east of Smith's Ferry. As he stepped from his automobile to investigate, Burdette alleged that three boys jumped from the other car and fled in the direction of East Liverpool.

Burdette reported the accident to the Midland police and the Beatty car was removed to a Midland garage. Beatty had reported the theft of his car to the local police and later it was learned that his car had figured in the Smiths Ferry crash.

China Quits War

PEKIN, Feb. 1.—China is laying down the tools of peace and war tonight for five days of feasting and celebration.

The Chinese New Year begins at midnight—a new year which is symbolized by the rabbit and which unfortunately does not promise to bring forth any greater peace and progress than did the past year, which was symbolized by the tiger.

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE for COLDS and COUGHS BUILDS STRENGTH OVER 70 YEARS OF SUCCESS

WOMAN AWARDED DAMAGES OF $800

As a result of a settlement in common pleas court at Lisbon, yesterday, Mrs. Araville C. Cullen, Columbiana, was awarded $800 damages against the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad for injuries alleged to have been suffered on July 30, 1925, when she was hurled from a Y. & O. car which she was boarding on Sixth street, East Liverpool. Mrs. Cullen had sued for $25,000.

Mrs. Cullen claims to have received injuries to her spine, neck, head and also to one eye when the car started as she was about to step on the rear platform.

SEVEN TAXICAB LICENSES ISSUED

Seven licenses for taxicabs have been issued by Mayor Ralph Benedum in keeping with the taxi regulating ordinance recently enacted by council, which became effective today.

Five of these licenses went to Albert McLean of the McLean-Yellow Cam company, while two were issued to Carl Hyatt. The fee for each car is $10 per year. Bonds providing for a $10,000 liability insurance and $1,000 property damage must also be posted by the operators for each car.

The fares are fixed at 35 cents for the first one-third of a mile and 10 cents for each additional one-third mile.

If you are suffering from ingrowing sympathy. If your world has narrowed down until it includes only "you and your wife, your son John and his wife." If, like the old Quaker, you say to your spouse, "Everybody's queer but thee and me—and sometimes I think thee's a little queer!" If your milk of human kindness is evaporating. If you find yourself skimming it or watering it—go to see "Private Izzy Murphy," now at the Ceramic theatre.

If you have begun to wonder whether the constitution of the United States really meant what it said when it spoke of this country as "a haven for the oppressed of all nations, without regard to race, color or previous condition of servitude." If you fellow Americans who happen to be of different ancestry than your own have degenerated in your mind into Wop, Bohunk, etc., then by all means go to see George Jessel in "Private Izzy Murphy."

Some are born "Murphy," some achieve worthiness of it, and some have it thrust upon them. Private Izzy got it in none of these ways. He simply took it. He cast the ancient and honorable name of "Goldberg" into the discard, taking in its place a name which would be a business asset in the Irish neighborhood of New York in which he had his delicatessen.

Izzy, with true Jewish reverence, had brought his parents from Russia as soon as his business venture had prospered. Of his change in name they never knew. Of his monetary dealings with the doughty Cohannigan of the Irish-American Packing company they knew and approved. But of their beloved Izzy's yearnings for the heart and hand of pretty Eileen, Cohannigan's daughter, they were blissfully ignorant.

Then came the World War and Izzy Murphy away overseas, with the Irish "Old 69th." Izzy, a private, first-class. A Murphy of the Murphies. Doing his bit valiantly. Wounded. In hospital. Then to his parents the crushing telegram, "Killed in Action."

How the hearts of all were as one in those days. Common humanity united by the bond of common suffering.

But the day when the gallant "69th"—what was l ft of them—came marching up Fifth Avenue, all arches and flags and cheering thousands, and drifting confetti Papa and Mamma Goldberg out to see them all, broken-hearted for the loss of their own, but glad for the others, who could welcome sons back. Then, glory be, who should they see but Izzy, their straight, their proud, their handsome Izzy—quick-stepping it among the Murphies and the Kellies and the Coogans!

BETHANY COLLEGE REDUCES STAFF

Reduction of the staff of athletic coaches, and an increase in the tuition fee was decided upon by the board of trustees of Bethany college, Bethany, at its mid year meeting yesterday in Pittsburgh. President Goodnight, also was authorized to employ a field secretary, and the English department was given an additional instructor for next year.

Athletic Director F. L. Nuss will be retained at the school, but he will be assisted only by a half time aid. Heretofore he had two assistants.

After the opinion had been expressed that the present tuition fee of $75 was too low, the trustees voted to increase it to $100.

The new field secretary, who will be given the title "executive secretary to the president" will do promotion work for the college.

The present faculty was renamed by the trustees, but appointment of the new English instructor was left for a later date.

Here's Real Relief From Neuritis

In 24 to 48 hours Pains Are Often Relieved and You Get Rest and Comfort again.

Torturing pains — the kind that pierce and burn and never seem to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and all worn out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only partially relieve.

The safest and most efficient way to get rid of the persistent, nerve-racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take these little dark green capsules as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced if not almost banished those severe, torturing pains that have caused you so many sleepless nights. Continue for two or three days more or until you are satisfied with results.

It doesn't matter how long you may have suffered or whether your Neuritis is in the shoulder, arm, neck or legs, Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 should give you speedy relief. J. D. Holloway and Mathews Med. Store or any good druggist will be glad to supply you.

WAR IS DECLARED ON AUTO OWNERS

H. S. White, field agent for the West Virginia state road commission, who is expected to arrive in Hancock county this week, announced yesterday that an active campaign had been planned to break up the practice of West Virginia automobile owners purchasing Ohio license tags.

"Information has reached headquarters at Charleston that the number of persons in West Virginia, especially in the panhandle, who have secured Ohio licenses for machines owned and operated in West Virginia is tremendous," Mr. White continued. "It is my aim to run down each and every one of these offenders, and have them punished."

He said that each and every one arrested will be fined $5 and costs, or about $11.50, for driving without proper licenses, and will be required to obtain a West Virginia title and license for the full year, no matter at what time of the year they are apprehended. The offenders are liable, also to a fine of $25 and costs for operating a car without a title, but this charge will not be pressed at this time, Mr. White said.

STATE TOBACCO TAX DECLINES

West Virginia manufacturers of tobacco and cigars paid $2,256,284.67 in federal taxes on their products last year, figures made public yesterday by the internal revenue bureau show. This gave the state rank as tenth among those paying taxes on manufactured tobacco.

More than two million dollars of the total was tax on manufactured tobacco. The amounts paid on each products are: Cigars, $204 509.61; cigarettes, $7,580.00; manufactured tobacco, $2,043.47; special taxes, cigarette paper, etc., $296.53. For 1925 West Virginia's total tobacco tax was $2 381,553.28, showing a decrease for the past year of $125.268.

For the nation the tax totaled $371,667,583. Among the states with large collections were: Virginia $50,378 843; Pennsylvania $19,390,241 and Kentucky $8,680,317.

FIGURES GIVEN ON BOND ISSUE

Hancock County Alloted $693,555 for New Highways.

Hancock county would receive $693,555.25 under the provision of the new proposed $50,000,000 state bond issue which was passed in the lower house at the initial session of the legislature. Action on the measure was deferred in the senate until the long session which opens later this month.

Figures show that Ohio county would receive $703,362; Marshall $1,042,619.84, while Brooke would be given $556,558.63. The four counties of the panhandle would in return contribute approximately $10,000,000 to the issue.

Of the 1,740.95 miles of roads and grading paved or under contract the four counties would receive 108.43 miles at an estimated cost of $10,600,000. These statistics are based on a statement made by John Ulrich, one of the representatives of the above counties in the house of delegates.

PAIN, NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in elbows, arms, shoulders, feet, knees, legs, back, neck or body. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

WATCH THAT COLD!

This Old-Fashioned Remedy Will Help You

THAT cold you have is caused by a microbe! A tiny insignificant germ, but so powerful that he's killed bigger men than you!

Nature can handle him, if you give her a chance. He's not so terrible that you need be afraid of him—if you'll only let Nature deal with him. The trouble with so many folks is that they tie Nature's hands—don't give her a chance.

They steal her strength by letting their liver get sluggish and their stomachs get lazy. Then the cold microbe gets in his deadliest work—and Nature has an awful fight to win.

Give Nature a hand! Keep your stomach functioning properly. Take Dillingham's Plant Juice—Nature's own remedy for stomach disorders. Compounded of herbs, plants, roots, bark and blossoms, Dillingham's Plant Juice is pleasant to take and it works in Nature's own way, and leaves her free to deal with cold and other microbes.

Mrs. Sophie Lee of 110 Jackson St., Newark, N. J. writes to us:

"I was in a run-down condition, as I suffered from nerves and indigestion a year ago. My nerves were upset, and I was unable to get my proper rest and sleep. I had no ambition, felt weak, and my housework seemed a burden to me. Then somebody told me how good Plant Juice was, and I tried it. Well, it was only a question of five bottles and a few weeks, and I felt like myself again. My stomach is in perfect condition and my nerves are calm and steady. My sleep is sound and unbroken, and I wake feeling rested and refreshed. My housework comes twice as easy to me now, and I never tire."

FIGURES GIVEN ON BOND ISSUE

Hancock County Alloted $693,555 for New Highways.

Hancock county would receive $693,555.25 under the provision of the new proposed $50,000,000 state bond issue which was passed in the lower house at the initial session of the legislature. Action on the measure was deferred in the senate until the long session which opens later this month.

Figures show that Ohio county would receive $703,362; Marshall $1,042,619.84, while Brooke would be given $556,558.63. The four counties of the panhandle would in return contribute approximately $10,000,000 to the issue.

Of the 1,740.95 miles of roads and grading paved or under contract the four counties would receive 108.45 miles at an estimated cost of $10,600,000. These statistics are based on a statement made by John Ulrich, one of the representatives of the above counties in the house of delegates.

PAIN, NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in elbows, arms, shoulders, feet, knees, legs, back, neck or body. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

WATCH THAT COLD!

This Old-Fashioned Remedy Will Help You

THAT cold you have is caused by a microbe! A tiny insignificant germ, but so powerful that he's killed bigger men than you!

Nature can handle him, if you give her a chance. He's not so terrible that you need be afraid of him—if you'll only let Nature deal with him. The trouble with so many folks is that they tie Nature's hands—don't give her a chance.

They steal her strength by letting their liver get sluggish and their stomachs get lazy. Then the cold microbe gets in his deadliest work—and Nature has an awful fight to win.

Give Nature a hand! Keep your stomach functioning properly. Take Dillingham's Plant Juice—Nature's own remedy for stomach disorders. Compounded of herbs, plants, roots, bark and blossoms, Dillingham's Plant Juice is pleasant to take and it works in Nature's own way, and leaves her free to deal with cold and other microbes.

Mrs. Sophie Lee of 110 Jackson St., Newark, N. J. writes to us:

"I was in a run-down condition, as I suffered from nerves and indigestion a year ago. My nerves were upset, and I was unable to get my proper rest and sleep. I had no ambition, felt weak, and my housework seemed a burden to me. Then somebody told me how good Plant Juice was, and I tried it. Well, it was only a question of five bottles and a few weeks, and I felt like myself again. My stomach is in perfect condition and my nerves are calm and steady. My sleep is sound and unbroken, and I wake feeling rested and refreshed. My housework comes twice as easy to me now, and I never tire."

Make your experience like Mrs. Lee's!

MAE MURRAY AT AMERICAN

Conway Tearle in Male Role in "Altars of Desire."

Not since "The Merry Widow" has Mae Murray had a picture that compared in artistry to "Altars of Desire," in which Conway Tearle plays the featured male role. This new production, which was directed by Christy Cabanne, had its first showing last night at the American theatre.

"Altars of Desire" is a delightful combination of comedy and drama that is never played with a heavy hand. Her Clare Sutherland is a new type for Miss Murray, in that it depends largely for its appeal on subtlety and whimsical situations. The first half of the picture the star plays with a pretty insouciance, and in the latter scenes proves herself an excellent dramatic actress.

Conway Tearle plays the part of John Elrod, a young Southerner who becomes enamored of Clare against his better judgment. Tearle gives an excellent picture of a man torn between his heart and his mind. It is a pleasure to see this actor in an outdoor part after so many dress-suit roles.

The story, adapted by Agnes Christine Johnston and Alice D G. Miller from the original by Maria Thompson Daviess, lends itself unusually to picture treatment. It is the story of a Southern girl, who on her initial trip to Paris, meets and becomes fascinated by a Frenchman, Count Andre. He pursues her back to America, and makes every effort to make her run away with him, finally persuading her to do this during a momentary misunderstanding with John, a neighbor, whom it has long been planned she should marry. Andre, however, shows a bit of honor at the last minute, and confesses that he has a wife in Paris, whom he is suing for divorce, though he tries to force Clare to stay with him, and promises to marry her as soon as possible. In the ensuing struggle, Clare strikes Andre with a weapon which he has playfully given her to protect herself, and he falls, apparently dead. The following sequence is an extremely dramatic one, in which she goes to John for protection, and the denouement comes as a striking climax to the story.

Maude George has a delightful role as "Mrs. Pryor," the chaperone of Clare, and rival for the head of Count Andre. Andre Beranger, remembered as the "actor" in "The Parents People," plays Andre with a charming indifference, and Robert Edeson is seen in the role of Judge Sutherland, father of the heroine.

Albert Lewin wrote the screen play which was directed by Christy Cabanne, director of "The Midshipman," "The Masked Bride," and other successes. It is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture.

WELLSVILLE MAN AND SONS SEEK $30,000 DAMAGES

THREE SUITS AFTERMATH OF AUTO ACCIDENT

Raymond Taylor Names Traction Company in Petition.

CRASH ON OCT. 4

Charges Street Car Struck Stalled Machine.

Three damage suits, totalling $30,000, were filed today in common pleas court, Lisbon, against the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company by Raymond Taylor, residing near Fourth street, Wellsville, and his two sons, Kenneth and Charles, as a result of an auto mobile-street car collision in Wells avenue on October 4, 1926.

The eldest Taylor asks $15,000 and Kenneth and Charles, both minors, seek $5,000 and $10,000, respectively.

The plaintiffs are represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, of East Liverpool.

The crash occurred when the Taylor car, occupied by Mr and Mrs. Taylor and children, was struck by a westbound street car at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Taylor and the children, in an automobile, had gone to the American Sheet & Tin Plate plant in Wells avenue, where Taylor is employed.

Taylor got into the car and they drove to the road leading up Wells Hollow and were backing out, preparator to turning around and going back down Wells avenue, when the engine stalled, the auto stopping on the tracks. According to the plaintiffs, the street car came up over the grade east of Wells Hollow and the collision occurred a few seconds later.

PENNSY BUILDS COALING TOWER

Will Aid Freight Trains Over Kensington Grade.

In order to facilitate the movement of freight over the Cleveland & Pittsburgh branch of the Pennsylvania road, since the opening of the new low-grade Bayard cut-off, the company is now spending $25,000 or more in the erection of a new coaling tipple and water tanks between Kensington and East Rochester.

Throughout the day, an average of one train every 30 minutes passes over the road at Kensington, and on account of the heavy grade on the Salineville hill many engines have been unable to make Bayard for water. It has frequently happened that trains have had to be stopped and engines detached and run to Bayard for water and then back to their trains.

The low ground being used for this improvement is now being filled and will be brought up to the level of the tracks. The water will be obtained from Sandy Creek. It is said the new coal tipple will be of sufficient size to hold five or more cars of coal, and engines will be coaled by the gravity system.

DEUVAL FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara L. Deuval, nee Young, 54 years old, who died Sunday night at her home in Eighteenth street, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence in charge of Evangelist William Moore, of Barnesville. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery, East Liverpool.

In addition to her parents, in Parkersburg, W. Va., she is survived by the following children: Roy, of Niles; Mrs. Leona Reed, Mrs. Gladys Saunders, Mrs. Effie Heckathorne, of Wellsville; Mrs. Ada Anderson, East Liverpool; Harry Deuval of Wellsville; three brothers and two sisters, Willis and Charles Young, of Parkersburg, W. Va.; Henry, of Toronto; Sarah and Elsie, of Parkersburg.

She was a member of the Church of Christ of East Liverpool.

SUPPORT CHURCH PROJECT HERE

Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Nazarene church of East Liverpool, and Solomon Bennett, also of East Liverpool, both members of the Nazarene advisory board of the Pittsburgh district, attended last night's revival service in the local mission.

Rev. Benedum, secretary of the advisory board, in an address to the Mission congregation, announced that a Nazarene church for Wellsville was an assured fact and that the district would stand by the efforts of the local organizers.

Rev. Earl Stillion, evangelist in charge of the services, last night spoke on the subject, "Going Back on God."

He urged his hearers not to go back on God "but to seek his pardoning grace," illustrating his address with examples from his own memory.

Six professed conversion at the close of the services.

SALINEVILLE

"Farmers' Day" is to be observed by the Salineville Kiwanis club, Thursday at their noon luncheon meeting at the United Presbyterian church. Each Kiwanian will invite and entertain at lunch, three farmers. The committee includes J. G. Grant, E. L. Hart and John W. Skinner. The speaker is to be Rev. Peter W. MacCaulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Lisbon. The luncheon will be served in the dining room of the church. The farmers of this community were entertained by the club last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Quint Ludlam were called to East Liverpool Saturday on account of the death of the latter's sister, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Friday night at her home on Moore street. The funeral service was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the home, Rev. J. F. Dimit, officiating.

The class of boys known as the John Johnson class of the Presbyterian church, was organized recently in the home of their teacher. Thomas Eason was made president, Paul Tolson vice president, William Miller secretary, and Donald Lucas, treasurer. They decided to meet on the second Friday evening in each month. After the organization, a social hour was spent, and Mrs. Johnson, mother of the teacher, served a lunch. Fourteen members of the class were present.

Ernest Randolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Randolph, on East Main street, is suffering from an attack of grip.

Mrs. Adda Golden fell on the steps of Attorney S. E. McCormick's house, on Main street, Saturday. She was badly bruised and shaken.

Harry Smith, employed at Ambridge, Pa., was a Sunday visitor with his mother, Mrs. Latta Smith.

Carol Maple was in Canton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. Frank Maple who is a patient in the Mercy hospital.

Mrs. A. E. Smith, of East Liverpool, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. S. B. Larkins.

Allen Maple and S. B. Larkins were callers in East Liverpool, recently.

Elizabeth Ann, twelve-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Carnahan, Academy avenue, died at two-thirty o'clock Sunday afternoon, following a short illness.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carnahan, and one brother, Ralph, and one sister, Martha, at home. Funeral services were held this afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. A. M. Jenkins, pastor of the Church of Christ, officiating. Interment was made in the Woodland cemetery.

W.C.T.U. WARS ON BOOTLEG CAMPS

Toronto Women Latest Aid of Authorities.

Elimination of alleged bootleg camps along the Ohio river is the objective of a campaign launched this week by the Toronto Women's Christian Temperance Union.

A committee of W. C. T. U. representatives will start the drive in a series of conferences with authorities in Toronto and the valley district.

Brown's island, below Toronto, is being considered by the women's organization as one of the drive's focal points.

It is possible that the W. C. T. U. also will endeavor to enlist aid of federal authorities in Wheeling.

TWO ARRESTED ON RUM COUNT

Face Justice Dunham in Hammondsville Tonight.

John Anderson and Ton Martini, of the Piney Fork road, a short distance from Hammondsville, will face Justice T. B. Dunham, at Hammondsville, tonight, as a result of their arrest Sunday by officers of Dunham's court on liquor charges.

A complete manufacturing distillery was said to have been discovered by the officers. Anderson and Martini were released under bonds of $1,000.

Constable J. P. Tice and Deputies James P. Moran and J. W. Tice put the two men under arrest in a building on the farm. The men admitted having just destroyed 16 barrels of mash according to the officers. One barrel partly filled with mash was found by the officers, together with 10 sacks of sugar, a sack of corn, three quarts of whiskey, and a large supply of gasoline, a 100-gallon still, and several prestolite tanks.

Arrested for Fighting.

John C. Tice, who was released some time ago by the county commissioners on a liquor violation charge filed in Squire B. M. Rutledge's court at Toronto, was arrested on Sunday morning with Oakley Tice and George Wilson all of Hammondsville. The men are charged with fighting by Constable J. P. Tice and Deputy J. W. Tice. They will be given a hearing this evening before Squire T. B. Dunham, at Hammondsville, all having been released on bonds.

The fight was alleged to have started in Cream City and to have continued to Hammondsville where the men were arrested at 2:30 a. m. Following the arrest of the men the officers with Deputy James P. Moran with a search warrant went to the home of Wesley Tice at Cream City where the officers found a small quantity of whiskey. Wesley Tice was not at home but a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

P. R. R. REVENUES SHOW INCREASE

Statement issued for the month of December for the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., showed total revenues for 1926 amounted to $709,817,000, the largest in the company's history except for 1923, when they exceeded this amount by $11,580,000.

Total revenues increased $37,680,000 and expenses $23,321,000, taxes increased $5,409,000 and rents increased $2,743,000.

There was an increase in net railway operating income of $6,325,000 over 1925, the previous high record. Net railway operating income for 1926 was $106,433,000.

The report showed 12.45 per cent earned on stock after deductions for sinking and other reserve funds.

Puts An End To Bunion Pains

No Need to Suffer Another Day Those Agonizing Torturing Pains.

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflamed, swollen toe joints and get them down to normal and that is to apply Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning.

Ask Mathews Cut Rate, Herche's Drug Store and J. D. Holloway, or any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. Applied night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

It begins immediately to take out the Inflammation and reduce all Swelling. The first application brings Great Relief.

Stops Itching Instantly and Quickly Relieves Irritation. Severe tests in cases of long standing have proved that PAZO OINTMENT can be depended upon with absolute certainty to Stop any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles.

Recommended by Physicians and Druggists in United States and Foreign Countries. PAZO OINTMENT in tubes with Pile Pipe Attachment, 75c, and in tin boxes, 60c. The circular enclosed with each tube and box contains facts about Piles which everybody should know.

GYPSUM PLANS "AD" CAMPAIGN

Tie-up With Dealers Arranged in East Liverpool Zone.

A unique tie-up between the advertising and merchandising of a national manufacturer and his dealer-establishment was announced at the silver anniversary convention of the United States Gypsum company, which just recently was concluded in Chicago. For the central distributing section, for example, where the company has a well organized dealer-establishment, a presentation of the entire 1927 advertising problem and the methods proposed for meeting the problem, was prepared for each dealer and was handed to E. B. Sheppard, the company's representative in this district, for personal delivery.

Speaking before the more 400 sales representatives attending the convention, a noted authority on advertising said:

"The problem of the individual dealer's advertising is one of the most serious confronting the national advertiser. The manufacturer with his large annual appropriation can make up his program, aiming to reach and influence every possible purchaser of his products, and lining-up behind his dealer-establishment every conceivable means of support. But unless the campaign has the earnest support of the dealer an enormous waste in inevitable.

"The manufacturer cannot do the dealer's advertising for him. Such methods have been tried many times and have proven costly and ineffectual. The United States Gypsum company, for example, has a 1927 appropriation of $1,000,000, but an apportionment of this sum among the company's more than 12,000 dealers would be hardly enough for any one dealer, and an attempt to apportion it to the satisfaction of all dealers would be a virtual impossibility."

It then was pointed out that more than six months ago the United States Gypsum company started work on a plan that would make the individual dealer's advertising an integral part of the entire edvertising and merchandising plan of the company, and that from this tie-up the dealer's own advertising would derive strong support. It is this completed plan that E. B. Sheppard now is delivering to the company's dealers in this city.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach or a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Short Talks By Thoughtful Mothers.

A Tennessee mother talks, Mrs. J. G. C. ——— of Knoxville. "Another thing, everyone who has children should keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound always on hand, for the children's cough or baby's croup. It certainly excels all other cough medicines in healing qualities and in giving quick and satisfactory results. It is made under absolutely sanitary conditions and contains no opiates—points of especial interest to mothers who want to know what they are giving their children. Our druggist also recommends it highly." Ask for it.

WELLSVILLE MAN AND SONS SEEK $30,000 DAMAGES

THREE SUITS AFTERMATH OF AUTO ACCIDENT

Raymond Taylor Names Traction Company in Petition.

CRASH ON OCT. 4

Charges Street Car Struck Stalled Machine.

Three damage suits, totalling $30,000, were filed today in common pleas court, Lisbon, against the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company by Raymond Taylor, residing near Fourth street, Wellsville, and his two sons, Kenneth and Charles, as a result of an automobile-street car collision in Wells avenue on October 4, 1926.

The eldest Taylor asks $15,000 and Kenneth and Charles, both minors, seek $5,000 and $10,000, respectively.

The plaintiffs are represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, of East Liverpool.

The crash occurred when the Taylor car, occupied by Mr and Mrs. Taylor and children, was struck by a west bound street car at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Taylor and the children, in an automobile, had gone to the American Sheet & Tin Plate plant in Wells avenue, where Taylor is employed.

Taylor got into the car and they drove to the road leading up Wells Hollow and were backing out, preparatory to turning around and going back down Wells avenue, when the engine stalled, the auto stopping on the tracks. According to the plaintiffs, the street car came up over the grade east of Wells Hollow and the collision occurred a few seconds later.

PENNSY BUILDS COALING TOWER

Will Aid Freight Trains Over Kensington Grade.

In order to facilitate the movement of freight over the Cleveland & Pittsburgh branch of the Pennsylvania road, since the opening of the new low-grade Bayard cut-off, the company is now spending $25,000 or more in the erection of a new coaling tipple and water tanks between Kensington and East Rochester.

Throughout the day, an average of one train every 30 minutes passes over the road at Kensington, and on account of the heavy grade on the Salineville hill many engines have been unable to make Bayard for water. It has frequently happened that trains have had to be stopped and engines detached and run to Bayard for water and then back to their trains.

The low ground being used for this improvement is now being filled and will be brought up to the level of the tracks. The water will be obtained from Sandy Creek. It is said the new coal tipple will be of sufficient size to hold five or more cars of coal, and engines will be coaled by the gravity system.

DEUVAL FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara L. Deuval, nee Young, 54 years old, who died Sunday night at her home in Eighteenth street, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence in charge of Evangelist William Moore, of Barnesville. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery, East Liverpool.

In addition to her parents, in Parkersburg, W. Va., she is survived by the following children: Roy, of Niles; Mrs. Leona Reed, Mrs. Gladys Saunders, Mrs. Effie Heckathorne, of Wellsville; Mrs. Ada Anderson, East Liverpool; Harry Deuval of Wellsville; three brothers and two sisters, Willis and Charles Young, of Parkersburg, W. Va.; Henry, of Toronto; Sarah and Elsie, of Parkersburg.

She was a member of the Church of Christ of East Liverpool.

SUPPORT CHURCH PROJECT HERE

Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Nazarene church of East Liverpool, and Solomon Bennett, also of East Liverpool, both members of the Nazarene advisory board of the Pittsburgh district, attended last night's revival service in the local mission.

Rev. Benedum, secretary of the advisory board, in an address to the Mission congregation, announced that a Nazarene church for Wellsville was an assured fact and that the district would stand by the efforts of the local organizers.

Rev. Earl Stillion, evangelist in charge of the services, last night spoke on the subject, "Going Back on God."

He urged his hearers not to go back on God "but to seek his pardoning grace," illustrating his address with examples from his own memory.

Six professed conversion at the close of the services.

SALINEVILLE

"Farmers' Day" is to be observed by the Salineville Kiwanis club, Thursday at their noon luncheon meeting at the United Presbyterian church. Each Kiwanian will invite and entertain at lunch, three farmers. The committee includes J. G. Grant, E. L. Hart and John W. Skinner. The speaker is to be Rev. Peter W. MacCaulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Lisbon. The luncheon will be served in the dining room of the church. The farmers of this community were entertained by the club last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Quint Ludlam were called to East Liverpool Saturday on account of the death of the latter's sister, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Friday night at her home on Moore street. The funeral service was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the home, Rev. J. F. Dimit, officiating.

The class of boys known as the John Johnson class of the Presbyterian church, was organized recently in the home of their teacher. Thomas Eason was made president, Paul Tolson vice president, William Miller secretary, and Donald Lucas, treasurer. They decided to meet on the second Friday evening in each month. After the organization, a social hour was spent, and Mrs. Johnson, mother of the teacher, served a lunch. Fourteen members of the class were present.

Ernest Randolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Randolph, on East Main street, is suffering from an attack of grip.

Mrs. Adda Golden fell on the steps of Attorney S. E. McCormick's house, on Main street, Saturday. She was badly bruised and shaken.

Harry Smith, employed at Ambridge, Pa., was a Sunday visitor with his mother, Mrs. Latta Smith.

Carol Maple was in Canton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. Frank Maple who is a patient in the Mercy hospital.

Mrs. A. E. Smith, of East Liverpool, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. S. B. Larkins.

Allen Maple and S. B. Larkins were callers in East Liverpool, recently.

Elizabeth Ann, twelve-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Carnahan, Academy avenue, died at two-thirty o'clock Sunday afternoon, following a short illness.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carnahan, and one brother, Ralph, and one sister, Martha, at home. Funeral services were held this afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. A. M. Jenkins, pastor of the Church of Christ, officiating. Interment was made in the Woodland cemetery.

Brown's island, below Toronto, is being considered by the women's organization as one of the drive's focal points.

It is possible that the W. C. T. U. also will endeavor to enlist aid of federal authorities in Wheeling.

TWO ARRESTED ON RUM COUNT

Face Justice Dunham in Hammondsville Tonight.

John Anderson and Ton Martini, of the Piney Fork road, a short distance from Hammondsville, will face Justice T. B. Dunham, at Hammondsville, tonight, as a result of their arrest Sunday by officers of Dunham's court on liquor charges.

A complete manufacturing distillery was said to have been discovered by the officers. Anderson and Martini were released under bonds of $1,000.

Constable J. P. Tice and Deputies James P. Moran and J. W. Tice put the two men under arrest in a building on the farm. The men admitted having just destroyed 16 barrels of mash according to the officers. One barrel partly filled with mash was found by the officers, together with 10 sacks of sugar, a sack of corn, three quarts of whiskey, and a large supply of gasoline, a 100-gallon still, and several prestolite tanks.

Arrested for Fighting.

John C. Tice, who was released some time ago by the county commissioners on a liquor violation charge filed in Squire B. M. Rutledge's court at Toronto, was arrested on Sunday morning with Oakley Tice and George Wilson all of Hammondsville. The men are charged with fighting by Constable J. P. Tice and Deputy J. W. Tice. They will be given a hearing this evening before Squire T. B. Dunham, at Hammondsville, all having been released on bonds.

The fight was alleged to have started in Cream City and to have continued to Hammondsville where the men were arrested at 2:30 a. m. Following the arrest of the men the officers with Deputy James P. Moran with a search warrant went to the home of Wesley Tice at Cream City where the officers found a small quantity of whiskey. Wesley Tice was not at home but a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

GYPSUM PLANS "AD" CAMPAIGN

Tie-up With Dealers Arranged in East Liverpool Zone.

A unique tie-up between the advertising and merchandising of a national manufacturer and his dealer-establishment was announced at the silver anniversary convention of the United States Gypsum company, which just recently was concluded in Chicago. For the central distributing section, for example, where the company has a well organized dealer-establishment, a presentation of the entire 1927 advertising problem and the methods proposed for meeting the problem, was prepared for each dealer and was handed to E. B. Sheppard, the company's representative in this district, for personal delivery.

Speaking before the more 400 sales representatives attending the convention, a noted authority on advertising said:

"The problem of the individual dealer's advertising is one of the most serious confronting the national advertiser. The manufacturer with his large annual appropriation can make up his program, aiming to reach and influence every possible purchaser of his products, and lining up behind his dealer-establishment every conceivable means of support. But unless the campaign has the earnest support of the dealer an enormous waste in inevitable.

"The manufacturer cannot do the dealer's advertising for him. Such methods have been tried many times and have proven costly and ineffectual. The United States Gypsum company, for example, has a 1927 appropriation of $1,000,000, but an apportionment of this sum among the company's more than 12,000 dealers would be hardly enough for any one dealer, and an attempt to apportion it to the satisfaction of all dealers would be a virtual impossibility."

It then was pointed out that more than six months ago the United States Gypsum company started work on a plan that would make the individual dealer's advertising an integral part of the entire edvertising and merchandising plan of the company, and that from this tie-up the dealer's own advertising would derive strong support. It is this completed plan that E. B. Sheppard now is delivering to the company's dealers in this city.

ELKS TACKLE DAMASCUS TONIGHT IN FIRST-HALF TITLE SCRAP

BULGER DRUGS OUSTED FROM Y LEAGUE LEAD

SENIOR cagers threw the Bulger Drugs out of first place in the "Y" league race last night when they set the pill rollers down to defeat by the score of 34 to 32.

The game was what might be called a real basketball combat, the Seniors scoring the winning basket in the last few seconds of play, Canne making the decisive double pointer.

The game was the best played contest that has been seen in the league, the teams being well matched. The Seniors outclassed the pill rollers in the first and last periods while the drug store lads had a big edge in the other two quarters.

The Seniors won the game from the foul lines, counting twelve points on free throws while the Drugs found the baskets twice on free throws.

The Drugs outscored their opponents from the field, sinking 15 baskets while the Seniors found the rims for eleven double pointers.

The Seniors led in the first quarter, 8 to 6. The Drugs outplayed the Seniors in the second period and when the first half was up they were leading by a 16 to 11 count.

During the first five minutes of the final half the pill rollers played their opponents off their feet, rushing the basket for six straight double markers while their opponents made only one foul line point. With the score 28 to 12 the Seniors began to outplay the league leaders and they had cut the Drugs' lead down to a 28 to 19 score when the third quarter was over.

The Seniors still continued to gain and they succeeded in tying up the score, 32 to 32. With a minute and a half to go, Canne dropped one through to win the game.

Canne and Crawford were the scoring stars for the Seniors while Cannon and Greene enacted similar roles for the Bulger Drugs.

Seniors		Bulger Drugs
Canne	F	Cannon
Sayre	F	Wain

POWERS TO PLAY CHURCH QUINTET

The Power Class basketball team will clash with the Baptist church outfit tonight at 8 o'clock on the M. E. court.

The Powers recently met their first defeat of the season in a trip to Salineville, where they were downed by Tom Cartwright's county amateur league squad, 36 to 23.

A lot of field goals were shaken out of the Power five's satchels when their car skidded off the road near Highlandtown and turned over.

MORRIS WINS TWO IN CUE TOURNEY

Creed Morris defeated Lester Herbert, 75 to 61, in his opening match at the American last night, and then took on D. Bennetto and won the second, 75 to 44.

Matches scheduled tonight are: Frank Sainer vs Ed Reney; Bill Osborne vs. Tom Watson.

At the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association held recently at Lisbon, it was arranged to send a committee of members to Columbus to confer with the department of public works and the department of agriculture relative to the progress in improvement of state park at Guilford in Hanover township. The committee will urge a speeding up of operations.

It is also probable that this committee will also discuss the existing situation with Gov. A. V. Donahey.

Officers elected for the association at this meeting were: President, John King, Salem; vice president, John Chisholm, Salem; secretary-treasurer, J. C. Miller, East Liverpool.

Consideration will be given the date for the annual field meet of this association at its next meeting, it is said, but the event will be held at Guilford as it was during the last two years.

GRIFF OUTBIDS "HUG" IN QUEST FOR EX-INDIAN

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. — Now that Tris Speaker has decided to "unslough" a lot of ball games for Washington (D. C.) the boys in the back room are wondering if the ink ran out of Jake Ruppert's fountain pen or if Connie Mack's purchases of minor league stars depleted the treasury of the Philadelphia mint.

The idea of Clark Griffith, who once gave an intimate friend two passes to a ball game, outbidding the tall tactician of Bilipenntown and the near-beer man of New York appears about as logical as Hornby's kissing Breadon.

From all accounts, the dollar didn't cut such an important factor in the negotiations after all. Miller Huggins is understood to have offered a little more money to Spoke than Griffith, but made it plain to the gray eagle that he would have to try for a position on the Yanks, just as a freshman has to show all he has to win recognition from his high school coach.

With Ruth, Combs and Meusel hitting on all six, there was some doubt that Spoke would be able to be a regular. So since Spoke had no desire for bench duty, he passed up N. Y.

It was known that Spoke wanted to play in Philadelphia with Eddie Collins, his good friend. But those in the know say that Connie had spent so much coin of the realm in getting Collins, Wheat and numerous high priced minorities that he didn't feel like making his bank roll so small that he would not need a rubber band at all.

So Griffith won. It is not unlikely that Spoke, being a good business man, conferred with Connie and Hug just to make Griffith raise the ante plenty. Such tactics are common in the canvasback industry where fight managers play one promoter against the other, but it is something new in the modern slave game where a player is restricted as to where he performs.

The fact that Spoke signed with Washington will please the magnates who like their pennant races tight. They figure that Washington will now be a pennant contender along with the Yanks, Athletics and Indians. So everybody should be happy.

And as to Cobb, he announced today that he would sign with the team that offers him the best financial inducements. Unlike Speaker, he evidently has no objections to picking up splinters in his pants.

Nats Now Boast One Of Best Outfields In Either Circuit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Tris Speaker will play in centre field for the Washington Senators next year.

Announcement of the signing of the Texas star was made by Clark Griffith, owner of the club. He declined to say what terms had been agreed upon, but, it is understood, the ex-Cleveland manager has been paid a stiff price for a one-season engagement. Griffith, who is not exactly loose with his checkbook, evidently figured Tris as a boxoffice attraction that would pull his salary through the turnstiles.

The addition of Speaker to the Washington club gives the Nats one of the strongest outfields in either league—Goose Goslin, Speaker, and Sam Rice. All hit consistently and considerably above .300.

Speaker will report at Tampa, the Nats' training ground on March 1.

BRACE CRAWFORD COPS ANOTHER

Brace Crawford, leading the contenders in the Academy three cushion billiard tournament, last night increased his percentage by defeating Harry Bennett, 25 to 16.

Forward Pusey Out Of Series Opener; Clark To Get Call

Second Battle Between Leading Pennant Contenders to be Staged Thursday Night on High School Court Here.

WITH Forward Tom Pusey out of the lineup, Bill Powell's Elks, tied with Damascus for the first half leadership in the county amateur cage circuit, will tangle with the Damascus Quakers tonight at Damascus in the opener of the three-game series that will determine the disposition of the elusive bunting.

The two teams will play again on Thursday night, this time on the high school floor here, and if a third contest is necessary, it will be played at Salem, a neutral floor.

Pusey, who has been working with Carl Wilson on the forward posts, injured a foot in the Alliance game here last week and has been unable to use his pedal extremity, for basketball purposes, since that engagement.

As a result, it is likely that Kenneth Clark will line up with Wilson tonight and the former Ohio State university lad is expected to get his share of field goals before the scrap is over. Wilde will start at the pivot post with Anderson and McConville at guards.

Jack Redman, of Midland, who was qualified by Manager Ray Adam at Sunday's league meet, reported last night to Coach Powell and will make the trip to the north end of the county. He plays a center or guard post.

The revised second half schedule, for all teams of the league, was announced today as follows:

February 8.

BELLAIRE AND AKRON CENTRAL NEXT ON SLATE

AFTER a couple of weeks of basketball thrills that certainly should be ample to satisfy the wants of the most exacting customer, what with victories over Steubenville, Lisbon, Bellaire, Youngstown Chaney and others, Coach Lorah's high school passers will display their talents this week entirely in foreign fields, permitting Ceramic City fans to regain their normal aplomb and composure before bringing on Martin's Ferry and East Palestine in the next home attractions.

Practices were under way today for a couple of tough nuts appearing on the Blue and White schedule this week and if hard work will count anything at all in the Friday and Saturday decisions, the locals should at least hold their own against the oncoming foes.

Bellaire is slated for Friday night and this will be followed up with Akron Central on Saturday night—two hard games in two nights and both on long trips.

The combination does not favor the East Liverpool passers in the least, Coach Lorah impressing on his charges that they will have to step along at top form all the way in each of the engagements if they are to annex them to the victory column.

The Blue outclassed Bellaire here January 21, but the visitors were doing the traveling that night. If high school can repeat the performance again on Friday night, this time on Bellaire's own court, the stunt will certainly mean a feather in their cap.

It is bound to be a gruelling contest, inasmuch as Bellaire, to begin with, will be anxious to atone for their defeat here. Coming before the Akron Central game, it will place a strain of considerable degree on the endurance of the local lads.

ELKS TACKLE DAMASCUS TONIGHT IN FIRST-HALF TITLE SCRAP

BULGER DRUGS OUSTED FROM Y LEAGUE LEAD

SENIOR cagers threw the Bulger Drugs out of first place in the "Y" league race last night when they set the pill rollers down to defeat by the score of 34 to 32.

The game was what might be called a real basketball combat, the Seniors scoring the winning basket in the last few seconds of play, Canne making the decisive double pointer.

The game was the best played contest that has been seen in the league, the teams being well matched. The Seniors outclassed the pill rollers in the first and last periods while the drug store lads had a big edge in the other two quarters.

The Seniors won the game from the foul lines, counting twelve points on free throws while the Drugs found the baskets twice on free throws.

The Drugs outscored their opponents from the field, sinking 15 baskets while the Seniors found the rims for eleven double pointers.

The Seniors led in the first quarter, 8 to 6. The Drugs outplayed the Seniors in the second period and when the first half was up they were leading by a 16 to 11 count.

During the first five minutes of the final half the pill rollers played their opponents off their feet, rusning the basket for six straight double markers while their opponents made only one foul line point. With the score 28 to 12 the Seniors began to outplay the league leaders and they had cut the Drugs' lead down to a 28 to 19 score when the third quarter was over.

The Seniors still continued to gain and they succeeded in tying up the score, 32 to 32. With a minute and a half to go, Canne dropped one through to win the game.

Canne and Crawford were the scoring stars for the Seniors while Cannon and Greene enacted similar roles for the Bulger Drugs.

AT CLEVELAND—Chuck Wiggins, of Indianapolis, and John Risco, of Cleveland, drew, twelve rounds.

AT BUFFALO, N. Y.—Art Weigand, of Buffalo, knocked out Mike Wallace, of Cleveland, second round.

Frankie Garcia, of Utica, outpointed Frankie Van, of Cleveland, six rounds.

POWERS TO PLAY CHURCH QUINTET

The Power Class basketball team will clash with the Baptist church outfit tonight at 8 o'clock on the M. E. court.

The Powers recently met their first defeat of the season in a trip to Salineville, where they were downed by Tom Cartwright's county amateur league squad, 36 to 23.

A lot of field goals were shaken out of the Power five's satchels when their car skidded off the road near Highlandtown and turned over.

MORRIS WINS TWO IN CUE TOURNEY

Creed Morris defeated Lester Herbert, 75 to 61, in his opening match at the American last night, and then took on D. Bennetto and won the second, 75 to 44.

Matches scheduled tonight are: Frank Sainer vs Ed Reney; Bill Osborne vs. Tom Watson.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR BIG DANCE

Plans have been completed for the dance tomorrow night at Rock Springs park under the auspices of the Welfare department of the Homer Laughlin China company for the benefit of the new social and athletic club recently organized by employes of the company.

Music will be furnished by Dan Gregory's famous orchestra of New York.

GAME SOCIETY TO HOLD MEET

Delegate O. O. Allison Plans to Attend Session Tonight.

Members of the Hancock County Fish and Game association will meet this evening in the office of Justice John A. Mylar in the Aaron building, Fifth street.

Delegate O. O. Allison, of Chester, who represents Hancock county in the lower branch of the state legislature will be present and discuss some of the proposed changes to the present game laws which were introduced at the opening session of the state lawmakers.

Since the formation of the club several weeks ago 20 new members have been added. Rules and regulations for the society will be read at this session.

SPECIAL MEETS DRAW CROWDS

Large crowds are attending the evangelistic meetings in the Church of the Nazarene being conducted by Rev. Edward C. Oney of Ashland, Ky.

Special features tonight will be music by the orchestra of the Nazarene church of East Liverpool. Evangelist Stella B. Crooks, of Chicago, who closed a series of meetings Sunday night in the Chester Nazarene church will also be present and assist in the services. Sermon will be delivered by Rev. Oney.

BLAIRSVILLE MAN HOLDING SERVICES

Revival meetings in the First Methodist Episcopal church are growing in interest and being largely attended. The services are being conducted by Rev. John Gill of Blairsville, Pa., and the pastor, Rev. W. E. Dean.

Services will be held every night for the remainder of the week. Special music is being featured.

Shop Meet Arranged.

Rev. John Gill, of Blairsville, Pa., who is conducting a revival campaign in the First Methodist Episcopal church, will speak at noon meeting to be held Friday in plant No. 6 of the Homer Laughlin China company.

Naturally a lot of people are wondering how the accused ball players will appear in their oats of white.—Marion Star.

the police, or with private agencies, such as the Anti-Saloon league.

They will know the duties of all the other officers connected with the courts, the terms of the courts, the duties of the grand jury and when it meets, what an indictment is, what outside help the grand jury may receive, and whether there is any other way than through a grand jury proceeding that a person may be charged with crime.

How a citizen may charge another with a crime, how an accused person can avoid going to jail when he has been charged with a crime, whether all offenses are bailable, and bailable as a matter of the right of the accused or at the discretion of the court, what limits are put upon the court's discretion, who may be accepted as bondsmen, what the requirements are as to security, and what precautions are taken to prevent a bondsmen from exceeding his financial responsibility, are the questions asked to cover the next step in a criminal proceeding.

How Accused is Tried.

Taking up the actual trial, the women will learn how much time elapses, as a rule, before an alleged criminal is brought to trial, whether women serve on juries and to what extent, what can be done about it if women do not serve on juries in a given jurisdiction, how a jury panel is chosen, what talesmen are and how they are selected, how many challenges may be used by the state and by the accused, whether a case may be tried by a judge without a jury, the formal steps in a trial, how a jury arrives at its verdict, who determines the punishment in case of a verdict of guilty, and what becomes of the prisoner after he has been convicted and sentenced.

Withholding of judgment, suspension of sentence, paroling on probation, and the indeterminate sentence, as features of judicial systems, will be studied and the women are asked to formulate and state opinions as to the good and bad points of all.

Going to jail or prison, so to speak, the women will list the various places of punishment maintained by their states and the classes of offenders received at each institution. They will ascertain whether young and old offenders and the sexes are segregated, and if not, why not, and what can be done about it. They will also inform themselves as to indeterminate sentence laws, and how they work, and as to a habitual criminal act.

Then as a final bit they are expected to memorize the definitions of a dozen or so legal phrases, such as due process of law, burden of proof, presumption of innocence, hearsay evidence, and the like.

Having amassed all this information the women will fill out blanks calling for facts that will cover the entire records of their local courts, and when these data have been assembled and co-ordinated there will be no doubt as to what the courts of the county are doing, even if there still should be disagreements as to what is wrong with them.

All this work is being carried on under the supervision of Mrs. Edward Franklin White, of Indianapolis, who is the chairman o fthe division of law observance of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. White is an attorney and has the distinction of being the first woman elected to a state office in Indiana, that of reporter of the supreme court.

Mrs. White says that her survey although it is only getting fairly under way, has already disclosed some startling information. The public, congress, and state legislatures, to say nothing of the people identified with the judiciary of the nation, will probably receive a jolt in the near future when this information is revealed.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR BIG DANCE

Plans have been completed for the dance tomorrow night at Rock Springs park under the auspices of the Welfare department of the Homer Laughlin China company for the benefit of the new social and athletic club recently organized by employes of the company.

Music will be furnished by Dan Gregory's famous orchestra of New York.

GAME SOCIETY TO HOLD MEET

Delegate O. O. Allison Plans to Attend Session Tonight.

Members of the Hancock County Fish and Game association will meet this evening in the office of Justice John A. Mylar in the Aaron building, Fifth street.

Delegate O. O. Allison, of Chester, who represents Hancock county in the lower branch of the state legislature will be present and discuss some of the proposed changes to the present game laws which were introduced at the opening session of the state lawmakers.

Since the formation of the club several weeks ago 20 new members have been added. Rules and regulations for the society will be read at this session.

SPECIAL MEETS DRAW CROWDS

Large crowds are attending the evangelistic meetings in the Church of the Nazarene being conducted by Rev. Edward C. Oney of Ashland, Ky.

Special features tonight will be music by the orchestra of the Nazarene church of East Liverpool. Evangelist Stella B. Crooks, of Chicago, who closed a series of meetings Sunday night in the Chester Nazarene church will also be present and assist in the services. Sermon will be delivered by Rev. Oney.

BLAIRSVILLE MAN HOLDING SERVICES

Revival meetings in the First Methodist Episcopal church are growing in interest and being largely attended. The services are being conducted by Rev. John Gill of Blairsville, Pa., and the pastor, Rev. W. E. Dean.

Services will be held every night for the remainder of the week. Special music is being featured.

Shop Meet Arranged.

Rev. John Gill, of Blairsville, Pa., who is conducting a revival campaign in the First Methodist Episcopal church, will speak at noon meeting to be held Friday in plant No. 6 of the Homer Laughlin China company.

Naturally a lot of people are wondering how the accused ball players will appear in their oats of white.—Marion Star.

American firms in Shanghai now employ 3,000 Chinese workmen.

the police, or with private agencies, such as the Anti-Saloon league

They will know the duties of all the other officers connected with the courts, the terms of the courts, the duties of the grand jury and when it meets, what an indictment is, what outside help the grand jury may receive, and whether there is any other way than through a grand jury proceeding that a person may be charged with crime.

How a citizen may charge another with a crime, how an accused person can avoid going to jail when he has been charged with a crime, whether all offenses are bailable, and bailable as a matter of the right of the accused or at the discretion of the court, what limits are put upon the court's discretion, who may be accepted as bondsmen, what the requirements are as to security, and what precautions are taken to prevent a bondsmen from exceeding his financial responsibility, are the questions asked to cover the next step in a criminal proceeding.

How Accused is Tried.

Taking up the actual trial, the women will learn how much time elapses, as a rule, before an alleged criminal is brought to trial, whether women serve on juries and to what extent, what can be done about it if women do not serve on juries in a given jurisdiction, how a jury panel is chosen, what talesmen are and how they are selected, how many challenges may be used by the state and by the accused, whether a case may be tried by a judge without a jury, the formal steps in a trial, how a jury arrives at its verdict, who determines the punishment in case of a verdict of guilty, and what becomes of the prisoner after he has been convicted and sentenced.

Withholding of judgment, suspension of sentence, paroling on probation, and the indeterminate sentence, as features of judicial systems, will be studied and the women are asked to formulate and state opinions as to the good and bad points of all.

Going to jail or prison, so to speak, the women will list the various places of punishment maintained by their states and the classes of offenders received at each institution. They will ascertain whether young and old offenders and the sexes are segregated, and if not, why not, and what can be done about it. They will also inform themselves as to indeterminate sentence laws, and how they work, and as to a habitual criminal act.

Then as a final bit they are expected to memorize the definitions of a dozen or so legal phrases, such as due process of law, burden of proof, presumption of innocence, hearsay evidence, and the like.

Having amassed all this information the women will fill out blanks calling for facts that will cover the entire records of their local courts, and when these data have been assembled and co-ordinated there will be no doubt as to what the courts of the county are doing, even if there still should be disagreements as to what is wrong with them.

All this work is being carried on under the supervision of Mrs. Edward Franklin White, of Indianapolis, who is the chairman o fthe division of law observance of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. White is an attorney and has the distinction of being the first woman elected to a state office in Indiana, that of reporter of the supreme court.

Mrs. White says that her survey although it is only getting fairly under way, has already disclosed some startling information. The public, congress, and state legislatures, to say nothing of the people identified with the judiciary of the nation, will probably receive a jolt in the near future when this information is revealed.

EAST END

Gruber Class Meeting.
Members of the Gruber class of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church will meet Thursday night with Mrs. Arthur Hill at her home in Pennsylvania avenue.

Church Reception Held.
Large crowd attended the reception for new members last night in the Tabernacle Church of Christ. Diversified program was given.

PASTOR HOLDING SPECIAL MEETS

Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen, pastor of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church, is preaching this week at the revival services in the church. He is being assisted by John Guy, song leader and personal worker.

The meetings in the church began several weeks ago in charge of Rev. Gene Phillips of Trinway, O.

SAFETY BRIDGE BEING ERECTED

Work is progressing on the new concrete safety bridge at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing at Vanport. It will probably be completed within the next two months. Cost of the improvement is being shared by the county and railroad company.

Lodge Meeting Tonight.
Eureka circle No. 86, Protected Home Circle, will meet tonight in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Regular business will be transacted.

Class Meet Scheduled.
Members of class No. 13, of the Second Presbyterian church, will meet Thursday with Mrs. Alma Richey at her home in McKinnon avenue. Mrs. Mary Bulger and Mrs. Mary Hanlay will be associate hostesses.

Mid Week Services.
Prayer meeting services will be held tomorrow night in the various churches of this section of the city. Pastors will be in charge of the devotionals.

Scouts to Meet.
Members of the Boy Scout troop will meet Friday night in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Session will be in charge of the scoutmaster.

ANDERSON'S APPEAL IS FILED

ANOTHER SWIMS CATALINA CHANNEL

Today

Mr. Kahn Is Right.

The Dying Heart.

To Catch Bootleggers.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

OTTO H. KAHN says that we, in America, are "getting more and more interested in the creation of cultural values and spiritual assets" by which highbrow words he means that we are taking kindly to art.

And that, he tells you, does not necessarily mean weakening of our manly fiber. It does not, indeed. For proof, read Benvenuto story of his own life. He could chisel fine gold, or stick a knife into an enemy with equal "artistry" in both performances.

And when Leonard Da Vinci offered his services to the African potentate it was to build fortifications, roads, bridges, weapons for war. He added, only as an afterthought, that he could also paint pictures and play on the flute, in case the sultan should be interested in such performances.

Nothing that makes the brain work is bad for "manly fiber."

CENTURIES ago scientists borrowed prisoners for vivisection and studied corpes of men condemning to die of poison.

Leonardo got peasants very drunk to study their faces, completely relaxed, and dreadful tales were told of living men tied down and dissected.

In spite of all the studying, it was not until Charles the First's time that the circulation of the blood was scientifically established.

We are too civilized to dissect living human bodies now, but we still execute criminals, and science gets all the information it can from the fate of murderers.

Scientists of the Rockefeller institute, assisted by Dr. Sweet, head of the prison hospital, plan to photograph the hearts of men in the electric chair, as the current strikes them, and learn just what happens. How long the heart fights against the current and other things may be learned if the current does not upset the cardiograph and other apparatus.

Extra electrodes will be applied to the criminal's wrists and legs, in addition to the big electrodes on the shaven head and bare calf of the leg. Criminal slang calls death by electricity "burning." The criminals will not like the new harness to be adjusted upon them, but it may be of use to others.

THOSE that trust to bootleggers and their "guaranteed pre-war" poisons should read the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.'s report on alcohol. In six years the number of deaths from alcohol increased six fold. Six times as many are killed by alcohol here, under prohibition, as in Canada.

And deaths from cirrhosis of the liver, which means slower alcoholic death, are also increasing.

Review-Tribune Offers Its Readers Who's Who In Movies

How old is Jackie Coogan?

How many stars appear upon the screen?

Who are they, what about them, in what pictures have we seen them?

Questions like this about the movie stars are answered in the illustrated booklet, "WHO'S WHO IN THE MOVIES," now being distributed by the Review-Tribune.

Also a history of the motion picture, how movies are made, how they are distributed, and the place they occupy in modern life.

This is the first motion picture handbook in popular form, and it is offered to our readers for just a few cents to cover cost and handling.

LOWELL, MASS., VETERAN WINS FIGHT AGAINST CHILLY WATERS

BELIEVED LOST

Fears for His Safety Were Felt During Morning Hours.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Feb. 1.—Henry F. Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., veteran Marathon swimmer, reached the mainland today, the second man to swim the treacherous channel from Catalina island, according to reports received here.

Word of Sullivan's feat was brought here by E. F. Chase, a commercial photographer, who said he was on one of four boats convoying the swimmer.

Searched for Missing Boat

Sullivan, who started from Catalina at 1 o'clock Monday morning, swam across the channel and landed at Point Vincente, eight miles north of Long Beach, at midnight last night, according to Chase.

One of the four boats accompanying the swimmer got lost in the heavy fog that blanketed the channel during the night, Chase reported, and after his landing Sullivan himself took one of the remaining three boats and started out in search of the missing craft.

The missing craft was located after several hours, according to Chase, and the entire party headed for a point near the Long Beach pier.

Sullivan boarded a taxicab and disappeared, Chase reported.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Feb. 1.—Friends of Henry F. Sullivan, sturdy middle-aged Lowell, Mass., swimmer, were thrilled here this morning by the report that a rowboat believed to be Sullivan's had been sighted one half mile off Point Firmin, just north of Long Beach.

Hornsby, Although Giant Player, Named Cardinal Director

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 1.—Rogers Hornsby, member of the New York Giants, was elected a director of the St. Louis Cardinals at the meeting of the board today, bearing out predictions he would retain both standings temporarily at least.

The status of Hornsby now creates a peculiar situation which, baseball men agree, must be corrected before the 1927 season begins.

ROBBERS LOOT McKENZIE GARAGE

Garage of Hughie McKenzie, 225 West Seventh street, was looted Sunday night, according to a report made to the police yesterday afternoon.

Ten gallons of gasoline, a kit of tools, one jack and two inner tubes, the value of which was estimated at $35, were taken from the garage, McKenzie said.

Street scenes in Shanghai, China. The lower left picture was taken at the very outskirts of the "foreign city." The Chinese on the extreme left are on the "foreign" side of the thoroughfare. At the center, in uniform, are two Chinese policemen, as a "frontier guard." The lower right photo depicts two officers of the Chinese republican army, stopping, by chance, on the edge of the "foreign city," with a big European building in the rear.

Shanghai, China, with approximately 500,000 inhabitants,—a prize at which the Nationalist forces have been aiming — is valuable to the British because of its concessions in the "foreign city" within the city. This "foreign city" is governed and policed by "Europeans," which, in the nomenclature of the Orient, includes Americans. Posted at the entrance of a park in this section there has been a sign, 'Chinese Keep Out." During the recent Shanghai rioting, the park was the first place the mob wrecked. All the views above are of street scenes in the quarter of Shanghai where the most serious troubles have been occurring.

CHINA CALLS HALT IN WAR

Combatants Forget Enemy as Chinese New Year Begins.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Twelve hundred U. S. marines were ordered today to Chinese waters, where they will be held for duty in case an emergency arises.

Orders were issued at the navy department for the dispatch of the marines from the San Diego base, where the Fourth regiment has been recruited up to near war strength.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Increased pessismism over the Chinese crisis was noted in every official quarter here today.

The problem was again threshed over at great length at this morning's cabinet meeting, and while the details discussed were not divulged it was reported that an immediate and wholesale exacuation of the troubled far eastern republic by Americans was seriously considered.

House Committee Endorses Policies Below Rio Grande

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. — The house foreign affairs committee today gave a blanket endorsement to President Coolidge's Mexican and Nicaraguan policies.

It did this by adopting the Fairchild resolution by a strict party vote of 10 to 5. Democrats promptly moved for a reconsideration of the vote.

The Democrats last week held up a decision on the resolution by walking out of committee. Minority members charged they were being "gagged."

GIRL HARPISTS ROTARY GUESTS

Marie MacQuarrie's Ensemble Attends Noon Luncheon.

A musical program, given by Miss Marie MacQuarrie's Harp Ensemble, playing an engagement at the Ceramic theatre, featured the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. at noon today.

The harpists, who were guests, in addition to Miss MacQuarrie, were Misses Helen Hughes, Anna Welch, Athel Dindorf, Geneva Latinser, Edith Salve and Helene Landon.

Two violin and harp duets, with Miss MacQuarrie playing the harp and Miss Hughes the violin, were rendered. This was followed by a vocal solo by Miss Hughes, with a harp accompaniest by Miss MacQuarrie. Miss MasQuarrie then rendered two harp solos. The concluding number was a vocal solo by Miss Landon, with the harp accompanist.

Attorney Blaine H. Cochran, club musical director and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Danks Cochran, rendered two vocal duets "Oh, How I Miss You To-

MEDINA FIRM IS LOW BIDDER

Mellert and Weidner Ask $165,666 for Salem-Hanover Work.

Mellert and Weidner, Medina contractors, were the low bidders for the surfacing of the Salem-Hanover road, in estimates opened by the board of county commissioners yesterday afternoon. Eight contractors submitted bids.

The Medina firm asked $165,666 for gravel concrete as compared with the engineer's estimate of $203,219; $173,377 for limestone aggregate as against an estimate of $210,229; $165,666 for slag aggregate as against an estimate of $199,714.

Other proposals were:

Allison and Harris Construction company, East Liverpool — Gravel, $178, 39.60; limestone, $183,303.60; slag $186,808.60.

J. C. McCann company, Columbus—Gravel, $178,404.30; limestone, $188,919.30; amiesite $211,886.11.

FORMER AUTO DEALER SEEKS THIRD TRIAL IN FRANK M'LAIN DEATH

One-time College Football Star Asks Supreme Tribunal for Leave to File Petition in Error in His Second Conviction on Charge of Manslaughter.

DATE FOR ARGUMENT PROBABLY WILL BE SET AT COLUMBUS TOMORROW

Fifth Step in East Liverpool Man's Fight Against Indeterminate Prison Sentence for Shooting of Taxicab Fleet Operator in East Liverpool on October 7, 1925.

George A. Anderson, 44, former East Liverpool automobile dealer and one-time college football star, today carried to the supreme court his fight to escape a prison sentence for his two-time conviction of manslaughter in the death of Frank McLain, 27, taxicab fleet operator.

Attorney F. E. Gosshans of East Liverpool, and George T. Farrell, of Lisbon, representing him, forwarded to the state's highest tribunal a motion asking leave to file a petition in error in the case which has twice been heard in the Columbiana county common pleas court, and twice taken to the appellate bench.

Anderson, now at liberty under $5,000 bond, was granted a 30-day stay of his indeterminate sentence of four years and eight months to 20 years in the penitentiary, by Judge W. F. Lones, at Lisbon, when he gave notice of his appeal to the supreme court.

Date for arguments on the motion before the high tribunal is expected to be set tomorrow or Thursday.

Claimed Shooting Was Accidental.

Today's action is the fifth step in the fight of Anderson, who testified at two trials in common pleas court that the shooting of McLain, which occurred in a second floor bedroom in the Anderson home, Second street, on the night of October 7, 1925, was accidental.

Anderson, first sentenced to serve from five to 20 years, was granted a second trial by the appellate court after he had been imprisoned four months in the penitentiary.

In the second trial, a jury also returned a manslaughter verdict, and the court, allowing credit for the four months' already served, fixed the penalty as four years and eight months to 20 years.

The second conviction also was carried to the appellate tribunal, but the judgment of the lower court was affirmed and a third trial refused.

Should the supreme court grant the petition of the defense, Anderson will again face trial in Columbiana county.

The new move probably will act as a stay of execution after expiration of the 30-day period originally granted.

Annexation Case Is Postponed Until Thursday Morning

Hearing of the annexation application of the East Liverpool city council, which was to have started before Judge T. D. Price of New Lexington, in common pleas court, No. 2, Lisbon, yesterday, will not get under way until Thursday morning, it was announced today.

Solicitor Frank Hoover, who will represent the city, announced today that 57 witnesses had been summoned. This is more than twice the number of witnesses called by the city when the county commissioners heard evidence here about two months ago. The number of witnesses called by the opposition could not be ascertained.

County Will Pay $11,000 for Street Jobs in Leetonia

The county will contribute $11,000 toward the surfacing of two Leetonia streets, which are a part of the inter-county highway system, under an agreement by the commissioners, Mayor Galen Lodge and Solicitor W. E. Warren, it was announced today.

The commissioners will appropriate $5,000 from the general road bond issue and $6,000 from county funds. The two thoroughfares which will be improved this year are Lisbon street, from the paved section of the Lisbon-Leetonia road to Columbia street, and Walnut street, from Main street to the paved part of the Leetonia-Washingtonville road.

The village council will pass legislation for this improvement which will be under the supervision of the commissioners.

MRS. KUNKEL, 66, LEETONIA, DIES

Mrs. Margaret A. Kunkel, 66, wife of Henry F. Kunkel, died today in her home, Main street, Letonia, after 11 days' illness.

Mrs. Kunkel, who was born at Tappin, O., was a resident of Leetonia for 28 years. She was an active member of the Presbyterian church.

She is survived by her husband, four sons, one daughter, Edward, Henry, Robert, James and Margaret, all at home; one step-daughter, Mrs. Henry Cezeda, residing in California; her father, Henry Worstall, Tappin; four brothers, Judge Grant Worstall, Athens; William Worstall, Ia.; Clyde Worstall, Jewett; Robert, Uhrichsville, and two sisters, Mrs. Jane McGuire, Tappin, and Mrs. Ida Berlin, Jewett.

OHIO YOUTH IS SHOT TO DEATH IN BATTLE WITH DRY RAIDERS

Slain Man is Identified as Dick Cooper, 22, Alleged Operator of Still Near Portsmouth—Companion Escapes.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Feb 1.—One alleged moonshiner is dead here today and another is being sought in the hilly regions of uper Twin Creek, 20 miles west of here, following a pitched rifle battle between four federal and state prohibition raiders, a deputy sheriff and two other men yesterday.

The dead man has been identified as Dick Cooper, 22, a resident of the section where the men exchanged shots. Identity of a companion has not been divulged.

Federal raiders were Ray Brown and W. G. Davis, of the Columbus district, and State Inspectors C. H. Hutchinson and Elmer Farmer. They were accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Green Willis, Scioto county.

The story of the raid told by Willis is that the men were surprised about dusk Monday while they were operating a 200-gallon still in the thick underbrush. One of the moonshiners, the deputy said, opened fire. It was returned by the raiders and after a dozen shots Cooper fell with a bullet in his right side. His companion fled.

Cooper was brought to the General hospital here and died soon after midnight.

COUNTY MOTOR CLUB OPENS FIGHT AGAINST GASOLINE TAX INCREASE

Representative Will go to Columbus to Appear at Meeting of Committee on Taxation of State Legislature.

The Columbiana County Motor club today announced it would wage a campaign against any legislative attempt to increase the Ohio gasoline tax from two to three cents.

Secretary E. M. Diehl today asked State Senator Earl R. Lewis, who, with Senator Harry M. Carpenter, represents the twenty-twenty-second district, to arrange for the appearance of a representative of the club before the committee on taxation, so that the motorists' views may be presented.

This action was authorized last night by the directors of the club at a meeting in the East Liverpool headquarters.

"The problem confronting the legislature," said Diehl, "is the raising of additional funds to meet a deficit, real and anticipated, undoubtedly caused by the shortcomings of previous legislatures or the administrative authorities, or both. It is the opinion of the local club officials that the problem should be attacked from the other end, and in place of endeavoring to find new sources of revenue or increasing that derived from old sources, the administrative department of the state should be made to live within its income and should be flatly refused permission to operate on any basis that is not good for the individual citizen to practice."

Cleveland Lawyer Speaker at Meet Of Legion Society

Eckley G. Gossett, Cleveland attorney, and grand chef de gare of the Ohio Society, 40 Hommes and 1 Chevaux, installed officers of Columbiana County Voiture No. 273, La Societe, at a meeting in the American Legion home, 633 Dresden avenue, last evening.

The officers are: Myron Griffin, Greenford, chef de gare; Cecil Pearce, East Liverpool, chef de train; S. J. Adams, Wellsville, correspondant; W. S. Foulk, East Liverpool, commissaire intendent.

Visitors from Salem, Lisbon, East Palestine, Columbiana, Wellsville and Leetonia were present. Two candidates were initiated. The next meeting of the voiture will be held at East Palestine, Wednesday, February 23.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT.

Once embarked upon the way of candor, it is difficult to know exactly where to stop. It was not easy for me, in face of the friendly attitude of the girl to whom I had said so much that was entirely true, to pull up short and meet her with flat denial or indirect deceit in regard to the one point she desired to establish. The edge of my caution—it will be noted that so far I had told her nothing which she did not exactly know—was rapidly being blunted, and for a moment I was tempted quite naturally to tell her the whole story. Then suddenly I remembered the sword of the Samurai, and saw in my mind's eye the figure of the Center, which corrected any weakness into which I might have been betrayed.

"I have already told you about the handkerchief," I said. "It went to the laundry, where I recovered it. You captured me as I left the convent, and you know the rest."

She flushed with anger, clenching her hands involuntarily.

"You are lying to me," she burst out.

There was a moment of silence, after which she rose and walked away from me down the room. At the end she turned, having mastered her fit of anger, and resumed her old expression of appeal.

"Listen," she said urgently, "I have already said that you are playing a dangerous game. It is worse than that. If you refuse to tell me the truth, the consequences will be terrible—not only for you but for me."

I was amazed at this new development, but suspected some further trick.

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"The Center has instructed me to get this information. If I fail——"

She broke off trembling, and a sudden dread descended upon me. Could this be play acting? She stood before me with horror on her face, her small frame shaking with terror.

"You must tell me," she went on desperately, collecting all her efforts for a last appeal. "Why should you refuse? You say you are not a detective. You have no professional honor or interest at stake. Tell me where you have put the handkerchief. If you refuse——"

Again she broke off as though she shrank from completing the sentence.

I was more moved by this time than I cared to acknowledge—alarmed to think that she might be in serious danger, and at the same time queerly glad to find her suddenly allied, as it were, with me. I was prompted to explore the nature of her confederacy with the gang.

"Tell me," I urged, "what are you doing with these people, anyway?"

"That is my affair," she replied; "you have no right to my confidence since you refuse to give me your own."

I rose impatiently. It was an impasse, and I could see no way out for either of us.

"You may well be impatient," she said in reply to my sudden gesture. "Our time is almost up. They gave me twenty minutes in which to persuade you, and it seems that I have failed."

I made no answer to this, but puzzled and discouraged.

Suddenly she thrust forward her two hands.

"Robert!" she urged.

The appeal was so direct and apparently so frank and impulsive that in a moment I was grasping the hands she offered.

"You will tell me, Robert—now, at once, before it is too late."

I looked down to avoid her entreaty. Heaven knows that in that moment I wanted to tell her, but I though of Claypole and was resolved to say nothing of the handkerchief till the last extremity.

"I'm sorry," I said. "I can only repeat what I have already said."

"Do you know what they will do if your refuse?" She said in a low voice.

"I think it very unlikely that they will do anything at all."

"I will tell you what they will do," she said in a toneless voice. "You will be taken to the Black Room and—" Her voice faltered. "It happened once before." And she shuddered uncontrollably.

"What do you mean?" I said bewildered, a sudden terror at my heart.

"They torture people in the Black Room," she answered.

"Yes, brutally, mercilessly."

"But who will dare to do this?"

"The man who dared to bring you here. He would do anything to get what he wants."

"The Center?"

She bent her head.

"But why should he do this?" I said bewildered. "It is incredible. I can't believe it."

"You have got to believe it," she urged. "You must believe it here and now and realize what it means. He will have you tortured and it will go on until you tell him what he wants to know or until—until——"

She broke off and her lips quivered.

"I couldn't bear it," she whispered. "I couldn't bear to see you suffer."

Her distress, being all on my behalf, almost unmanned me. It was the first indication of any real feeling or sympathy she had shown. Moreover, it convinced me as nothing else could of my desperate situation. There was no mistaking her horror of the things that were done in the Black Room.

Presently she raised her head, as though listening for sounds outside, and at that moment the door opened, and Baldassare with the butler and four Japanese servants appeared.

They immediately sprang at me, seized my hands, and a moment later, before I could do anything to prevent it, a pair of handcuffs clicked over my wrists.

Baldassare addressed himself to Patience.

"Has he confessed?" he asked.

She did not reply, and he turned his crooked eye upon me.

"I have nothing to confess," I replied.

He made a sign to the two Japanese servants, who, taking me by the elbows, began urging me towards the door.

"Vorvats," said the butler behind me.

And Baldassare, paying no further heed to Patience, who sank weeping upon a chair, led the way at once from the room.

We descended two flights of stairs and reached a large apartment on the ground floor. It was bare, save for a table and a chair standing to the side of some heavy black velvet curtains which completely cut off one end. At the table was the Center. He looked up as we came in nad moved his head slightly whereat Baldassare quitted the room.

"So, Mr. Quexter," he said, "I tell you I find way. You strong man. Stand many blows, but Japanese tortura forms soon make strong men very affable. Everything quite ready now. I give you small time to tell us, perhaps, where is handkerchief. Then we draw apart convenient curtains and begin."

I looked as he spoke towards the curtains. There was a faint whirring from behind them; and, even as I turned to look, a thin yellow hand glided between the heavy folds, clutching the velvet as though making ready to draw them apart.

Half a miute elapsed, during which the dead silence of the room was broken only by the faint noise and rustle of invisible preparations.

"Now, Mr. Quexter," said the little Japanese, "I give signal to show painful tableau. I strike gong and expose ingenius torture forms. Everything now quite correct and in best possible order."

He raised the hammer of the going to give the signal, but I was destined never to know exactly what horrors had been prepared for me behind the velvet curtains.

For at this moment there was a sudden interruption at the back of the room, and instinctively I turned my head. Baldassare was lumbering towards us, his face shining with excitement. In his hand was something white and soiled with red specks on it.

"Mr. Center," he said, "it's all right. Here is the real handkerchief."

GARDENER SOWS FERTILE SEEDS; REAPS HARVEST

C. W. Kemp Gives Out Valuable Information Regarding Roots, Barks and Herbs.

When C. W. Kemp, gardener, 2511 Ohio Ave., Parkersburg, W. Va., recently said that he sewed fertile seeds and reaped a good harvest he meant that he had used Tepee Herb Tonic and been relieved of a long and tedious illness.

Redwood.

"Every mouthful of food I ate soured on my stomach," says Mr. Kemp. "Then gas would form and crowd around my heart uptil I could hardly get my breath.

"I was also nervous and couldn't sleep soundly. I would lie awake at night for hours. I always felt tired and worn out when I got up in the morning. My legs ached all the time and then at other times they would get numb.

"Since using three bottles of Tepee Herb Tonic I feel better than for years. I have a good appetite and can eat anything I want. Nothing sours on my stomach. All of the achiness and stiffness in my legs is gone. I don't feel like the same person."

Try Tepee Herb Tonic if you don't feel well. It is sold and recommended by Carnahan's Drug Stores in East Liverpool, and by other well stocked druggists everywhere.

WEIGHT LIMIT ON AUTO TRUCKS

State Highway Bureau Places Signs on Intercounty Roads.

Signs have been placed at the intersection and at many other parts of intercounty highways in this county by the state highway department limiting the weight of trucks and their loads to seven and one-half tons. As explained by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk, the weight of the truck and the load combined must not exceed seven and one-half tons.

The Columbus department has also filed similar notice with Sheriff George Wright, with the request that violations of this section of the state road laws be followed by the filing of charges against truck owners.

Fines collected under this law are credited to the county road fund, but it is pointed out by the state highway department that the damage done to roads at this season of the year because of overweight costs more for repair than the fine specified.

To Men Around 40 Who Want To Keep Young

THIS PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT IS ESPECIALLY IMPORTANT

In early youth, your internal organs have marvelous powers of recovery, no matter how they are misused or abused. Time was, when you could be up all night and be fresh on the job in the morning. But, as a man passes forty signs begin to show of the constant wear and tear on kidneys, liver, bladder, stomach, nerves and prostate gland. If you notice such distressing symptoms as lame back, rheumatic twinges, pains in the head, sour stomach, biliousness, high blood pressure, frequent getting up nights, embarrassing nervous weakness and debility, you owe it to yourself to start getting into your system at once the marvelous, restorative Radium power supplied by ARIUM Tablets.

By producing a vitalizing internal exercise of the glands and organs ARIUM Tablets help to quickly bring back healthy, normal, youthful action, just as Nature intended. Amazing reports from physicians and other users gives convincing proof of their remarkable effects. Mr. A. M. H. of Lancaster, Pa., says: "I feel like a three-year-old since taking ARIUM Tablets. I am stronger in every way." Mrs. A. K of New Bern, N. C., writes: "I feel very grateful; my husband is improving." Mr. S. J. C. of Ontario, Can., states: "Before taking ARIUM, I could hardly do anything. Now I feel so much stronger, I can work all day and not get tired out." A multitude of alarming symptoms often quickly disappear. You should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day.

NOTE: The Associated Radium Chemists, Inc., of New York, which supplies druggists with ARIUM guarantees successful and satisfactory results from its progressive use in every case or money refunded, and also that a definite quantity of genuine radium is used in its preparation. ARIUM is easy and economical to take and may now be readily obtained in this city from any good druggist such as

Chas. T. Larkins, Carnahan's, Herche's Drug Store and Mathews.

Foreclosure Actions.

On a motion filed by the Potters Savings & Loan company against Galtano and Roseria Camarda, an action in foreclosure, other parties have been made party defendants. They are: I. A. Junker, Inc.; Commercial Investment Co.; Basilio Manango, C. B. Wilson and James F. McGarry.

Parties made defendant in the case against Thomas A. and Susan A. Harley are: Pleasant Heights Grocery Co.; Mary Emmerling, Barbara Fowler, Tri-State Electric Co. and James Davis. This is also a foreclosure action.

Sale Confirmed.

In the case of Joseph E. Walton against Martin Lutch and others, an action in foreclosure, the sale of property has been confirmed and a deed and distribution ordered by Judge W. F. Lones.

A similar entry has also been made by this court in the case of C. McCandless against C. G. and Addie Bennington, wherein the foreclosure of a chattel mortgage was sought.

Decree Entered.

There was a trial to the court in the case of the Salem Chattel Mortgage company against Joseph and Lillian Petrie, an action seeking the foreclosure of a chattle mortgage, and there was found $121 due the plaintiff. A decree of foreclosure was entered in this case.

Leave To File.

Leave has been granted Tony Cascio as plaintiff to amend his petition in his action against the American Mutual Insurance company by interlineations. In this action, which was made a matter of record August 4th last, the plaintiff sought a judgment against the defendant for $2,615.55 as covered by the policy held in the defendant company.

Sale Ordered.

The sale of property has been ordered in the case partition action pending in common pleas court wherein James C. Cunningham is plaintiff and Andrew J. Cunningham, defendant. The report of the commissioners in this action, James H. Hilbert, Millard Blythe and Charles Hendershot, has been confirmed.

Seeks Citizenship.

Samuel McVeigh, aged 18 years, a native of Lurgan, Ireland, and who arrived in the United States at the port of New York Sept. 9, 1920, has filed his declaration of intent to become a citizen of the United States. He is a student and a resident of Lisbon.

Case Dismissed.

The case of William R. Phillips, former county treasurer, against Arthur McMillan, for the collection of delinquent taxes, and filed in common pleas court June 13, 1923, has been dismissed by the plaintiff at his costs.

Parole Approved.

Upon the recommendation of Justice W. H. Calvin, the county commissioners have approved the parole of Theodore Pepin, committed to the county jail by the court in St. Clair township for the non-payment of a liquor fine.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" if cross, bilious or feverish

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative", because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

CASCARETS

Cleans Inside, and Pores Free from Any Taint

All the trick laxatives in the world can't tempt people who understand the properties of cascara.

A hundred different drugs will purge the bowels, but a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew!

Your grandparents took "salts," and slowly washed the mucous membrane with the waste! Mineral oils are better but they leave the coating that your blood must then carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

Don't get in the habit of taking medicine for constipation—or even for auto-intoxication. If you have the habit, stop it. A candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them and the taste tempts most grown-ups to take "more." And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in the warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight! All druggists, 10c & 25c.

French Currency Stabilized

There recently arrived in New York from France two shipments of gold bullion aggregating $24,000,000.

Here is substantial evidence that France at last is on a gold basis.

The fluctuations of the French franc since the war are well known. It was this, as much as anything, that made French business so unsettled and French solvency so doubtful. From its normal value of about 19 cents, the franc fell, at its lowest, to less than three cents. It was widely feared that the franc would follow the German mark, working havoc on French investments.

Fortunately the inflation has been stopped. When Poincare assumed the premiership he promised to stabilize the franc at around four cents. That former fire-eater and sword-rattler seems to have been steadied himself by his new responsibility, and has actually given steadiness to the national currency. Recently the franc has been stationary at about 3.95 cents. Four cents would be better, because it would make simpler reckoning. But the main thing—in fact, the only permamently important thing—in any monetary unit is stability.

French finance now begins to look almost as solid as British finance. It is a good omen for French prosperity and for European prosperity, insuring more satisfactory trade relations. It may lead to a satisfactory adjustment of the French-American debt

New Life For Electric Lines

Electric interurban railways are coming back. In recent years they have been hard pressed by motor vehicles. Statistics show that the private automobile has given them about four times as much competition as the motor bus, and the two combined have made the electric railways' profits vanish and their very existence precarious.

The railways now have got their second wind and are going to fight back, not in any mean way, but by giving better service and by using the most up-to-date sales methods.

First they are improving the cars themselves, making them better looking and more comfortable. Next, they are advertising extensively and interestingly by means of car cards, station cards, newspaper publicity, safety meetings, new uniforms for conductors, and so on. They are telling everybody whom they hope it may concern that electric transportation is more dependable in all weathers than motor transportation, that it is safer and cheaper, having its own right of way and its own well-trained operators.

It is probably true that the electric railways have a real place to fill in the modern transportation system. But in this competitive world they have to do something more than keep their cars moving. The public likes to be told all about what it gets for its money. That's the result of the era of super-advertising and super-salesmanship of recent years.

Thousands Of Planes

By July, 1928, the department of commerce estimates, there will be 1,000 airplanes using the transcontinental airway between New York and San Francisco.

Only 76 of them will be mail planes. Started as a mail route, that great transportation line is expected to be utilized mainly by private enterprise, for the swift carrying of passengers and merchandise.

It is a fine example of what may be accomplished by wise governmental pioneering in a new and difficult field. Public enterprise leads, and private enterprise follows, justifies the work and carries it to completion.

Similar development is expected on various other routes which are not yet so well advanced. In the coming year 3,400 miles will be added to the federal-lighted airways. Increased public interest and willingness shown to invest private capital insure rapid progress from now on. Within five years there should be many thousand commercial planes operating on many lines, all over the country, as regularly as trains.

Good Drama Without Censor

The campaign for improving theatre productions by activity from within instead of censorship from without is proceeding in New York. It is said that 76 of the city's 78 producers are represented in the organization of theatrical people studying the situation. Winthrop Ames is at the head of a committee considering ways and means of bettering the stage. The work was set in motion at the request of Mayor Walker, who suggested that producers themselves take the responsibility of stage censorship

It would perhaps be a good idea if they stopped referring to it as censorship, too. Seeking and producing better plays and eliminating cheap, vulgar or indecent features, ought to come under the head of good dramatic production rather than censorship. The one does away with the need of the other.

From his pictures, John D. Rockefeller seems to have the longest face in America. And from his account books, the longest head.

"Why do we go on erecting higher and higher buildings?" asks an architect. Maybe because we like to look down on other people.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

NO DETAILS TO BE OVERLOOKED.

According to my friend, Tom Mason, who knows as many good stories as anybody on earth, it was the last night of the revival meeting. The evangelist was going strong. His subject was eternal damnation. With all the eloquence at his command, he urged the congregation to flee from the wrath to come.

"Ah, my friends," he exclaimed, "on that last dread day there will be weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth!"

In a rear pew stood up an elderly woman.

"Elder," she said tremulously, "I ain't got no teeth."

"Madam!" he shouted back. "Teeth will be provided!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—This has been a tough winter—close up of a lone wolf howling—for the gigolo. In the vaselined world of Broadway he is becoming almost extinct. Publicity has puffed him to a contemptuous scorning even among gleaners and wastrels along the way that is white.

In many haunts where his tuxedoed presence was once welcomed he meets an aloof "Sorry, no table tonight." The gigolo's job of hiring himself out to women for the evening has finally received a frown from the street that accepts almost anything.

There are hundreds of these nimble-footed, pommaded fops who in a post-war madness lived rather extravagantly in this debasing manner. The gigolo danced attention upon foolish women for so much an hour while practicing sly blackmail on the side.

Many of these sordid apartment house jewel robberies have been traced to his door. He boasted of conquests and was totally impervious to the glances of those who watched his female companion pay the check. He considered it quite smart.

A number of them were taken to Europe and swank watering places by lonely women of wealth. They were furnished sufficiently with funds to wear the smartest habiliments and stop at best hotels. In exchange they fawned upon and danced with those who paid them.

Despised by their sex, they retaliated with the affable sneer and continued to intrude in otherwise respectable gatherings. A few were Americans, but chiefly they were South Americans with sleek black hair and olive-tinted complexions.

There was a lady swathed in furs who stood expectantly in the reception room of a glittering cafe waiting for one whom she had paid in advance for the evening. After a two hours wait she said to the head waiter: "Stood up by a gigolo; I wish I were fit to go home to my children!"

Add similes: As rare as a fat, blonde gigolo.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., seems to have broken definitely with his family over choosing a journalistic career. One can imagine Vanderbilt pere over the family coffee cups bemoaning the day "our boy disgraced us and took up newspaper work." However, the senior Vanderbilt was no slouch in vulgar trade himself. He is said to have garnered some eleven millions dollars from sundry railroad inventions. When he perfects a train window that will open we shall forgive him for his contemptuous attitude toward our trade.

Someone tells me a popular game of the drawing rooms is to stand five paces away and try to toss single playing cards into the open maw of a silk hat. To make it difficult the tossee is primed with a few cocktails.

A Park Avenue beauty parlor is swiping my style, if any, for its ads. Thus: "The chic luncheon hour. Pampered canines. Colossal chrysanthemums. Prepossessing creations of the Parisain Couturier. Caressingly purring cars. Enchanting debutantes. Matrons perennially young in contour." It must be quite a place!

A stunt cafe has opened on East 44th street with the slogan: "The worst meal in town and the slowest service." And is doing a brisk business.

And one notices a falling off in attendance among those happy-go-lucky noble Russian exiles with fan-shaped beards who seemed to spend most of their times in cellar places. Can it be they have gone to work?

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Women Tackle Crime Problem.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1.—The women of the United States are tackling the crime problem. As a first step, they are making, through the national organization of their numerous and various clubs, a survey of the work of the criminal courts of the country, with especial reference to the number of cases presented for trial, the number of acquittals and convictions, the sentences imposed, and the proportion of those sentenced who serve their terms.

And in order to equip themselves to assist in making the survey, to understand its revelations, and to form judgments as to what should be done about it, thousands of serious-minded women in the several states are taking an intensive course on the subject, "Know Your Courts." This is presented to them in the form of a quiz on criminal court procedure and agencies for the prevention, detection, investigation, and prosecution of crime, and the punishment of criminals.

This quiz includes 61 questions, but no answers are furnished. The women interested are directed to get the answers from their local attorneys, and in no case to be satisfied with the information supplied by a single lawyer but to get the answers from several sources and then check them one against another.

Under the head of crime prevention the women are asked to inform themselves as to how the policing forces in their communities are constituted, whether by the federal government, the state, the county, or the township, how the members of the force are appointed or elected, how they are organized for work, to whom they are responsible, to what extent they are controlled by politics, and, if they are not functioning satisfactorily, what is the matter with them.

How juvenile offenders are prosecuted, the relations between the juvenile courts and social workers, and whether there are any private agencies of prevention, such as the Florence Crittenton Home, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, are further subjects to be investigated.

Prosecution Most Important.

In the matter of crime investigation and detection the women are expected to ascertain merely what officials are charged with those duties, how they are chosen, their character and training, and whether there are any private detective agencies in their localities.

But when it comes to the prosecution and punishment of criminals, the women are given a guide to their study that is comprehensible to a degree. Those who follow it and master it will probably be better informed than the average lawyer, and will certainly be qualified to discuss intelligently proposed modifications in our judicial system which are being urged by the legal lights of the nation, headed by Chief Justice William H Taft.

They will learn what courts in their respective counties have jurisdiction in criminal cases, to what courts appeals may be taken, how many judges there are in these courts, the title of the official who prosecutes criminal cases, the number of his deputies, the records that are kept of his work, how many unfinished cases he has on hand, and whether the prosecutor works in co-operation with other courts, with

COURT OF LAST RESORT—PUBLIC OPINION—RULES

Illinois Man's Claim May Come Before Senate Again.

MAY TAKE OATH

Supreme Court Has no Power to Review Action.

By William K. Hutchinson.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The greatest constitutional clash between the federal government and the states of the Union over their constitutional rights since the Civil war loomed today as the probable outcome if the senate permanently excludes Col. Frank L. Smith and Representative William S. Vare from its membership.

The clash may never be settled judiciously, even though both Smith and Vare carry their fights into the courts, but the ultimate verdict undoubtedly will be rendered by America's court of last resort—the court of public opinion, as expressed at elections. This became certain when friends of both senatorial nominees declared they would carry their fights for vindication into senatorial campaigns in other states, if they are barred from the senate.

The question of excluding Smith probably will come before the senate for the second time within the next two weeks.

New Fight Expected.

A poll by International News Service revealed the senate elections committee favorably inclined toward endorsing the plea of Smith that he might be seated at once. Of the committee's 13 members, eight either voted or were paired in favor of seating Smith when he first presented his credentials. Only five voted against giving the oath of office.

If the committee drafts a report when it meets tomorrow, urging the immediate seating of Smith, it will provoke a new fight on the floor of the senate. All indications, however, point to the senate again denying the oath of office, although the majority may not be as great as before. The committee then will investigate the charges against him, before filing a final report, which may not reach the senate until just before the March 4 adjustment.

The threat of Smith's counsel that he and Representative Vare might become "senators-at-large" for the next six years, if denied admission, meanwhile aroused only amusement among the constitutional lawyers in the senate. It was the Smith contention that, since he received his credentials from the people of Illinois, the senate could not take them away and the governor could never appoint a successor until his term expires. This contention drew a sharp contradiction from the senate's constitutional authorities as did the suggestion that the supreme court might compel the senate to admit both Smith and Vare.

Agreed Upon Three Things.

There were three things the senate authorities agreed upon, regardless of party lines. These were:

1—The United States supreme court has no power to review any action of the senate, even though some senators feel the senate acted unconstitutionally in barring Smith from his oath.

2—If Smith and Vare are excluded permanently, they can never attend sessions of the senate, vote upon legislation, even enter the chamber, or receive a salary and no court can reverse that decision.

3—The governors of Illinois and Pennsylvania can appoint legally successors to Smith and Vare, after they are excluded, if the senate at the same time declared vacancies exist in the senatorial delegations from those two states, and no court can block the appointments.

ELECTRICIAN HURT IN MINE

Earl Noltman, 32, Lisbon, Victim of Accident.

Earl Nottman, 32, Lisbon electrician, is in a critical condition in Central clinic at Salem, as the result of injuries suffered when caught beneath a heavy fall of slate while at work in the mines of the Beaver Coal and Clay company at Coleman, two miles west of Lisbon, yesterday.

Nottman and William Muhlman were stringing wires when they heard the roof of the mine crack. Realizing that a fall was imminent, Muhlman stepped back, but Nottman stooped to gather up a pick. He was crushed.

Fellow miners extricated the injured man. His back and neck were injured. The victim was removed to Salem in the Eells ambulance, after being attended by Dr. H. W. Bennett, Lisbon.

Mrs. Burton Advises Women on Motherhood and Companionship

"For several years I was denied the blessing of motherhood," writes Mrs. Margaret Burton of Kansas City. "I was terribly nervous and subject to periods of terrible suffering and melancholia. Now I am the proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and a true companion and inspiration to my husband. I believe hundreds of other women would like to know the secret of my happiness, and I will gladly reveal it to any married woman who will write me." Mrs. Burton offers her advice entirely without charge. She has nothing to sell. Letters should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Burton, 1660 Massachusetts, Kansas City, Mo. Correspondence will be strictly confidential.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Further improvement was noted in stock prices in early trading today as the result of short coverings and speculative buying of the shares which led in Monday's closing rally.

A decline of about $38,000,000 in brokers loans was hailed as an improvement in the money situation, which, however, was not in need of much improvement. It also reflected the Wall Street view of the liquidation of margin accounts and the transfer of stocks "from weak to strong hands."

The Standard and independent oils made a feeble response to very favorable surveys of the "statistical position" of the oil industry issued by various experts. With production up 400,000 barrels daily compared with last year at this time, oil consumption has been sufficient, not only to absorb this huge production but to cut down reserves materially.

WHEN YOUR FOOD FAILS TO DIGEST

And Gurgles up in Sour Risings or Heartburn

Try a little diapepsin. Beats the world for stomach comfort. Hard to tell what upsets a stomach. Sometimes it's milk or fresh bread or steak and onions. Almost anything will cause gas, biliousness or heartburn. But whatever it is diapepsin works like magic. It actually digests food, rests the stomach, absorbs the sour, acid, brashy risings from whatever cause. Even in the morning, if you get up with a coated tongue, feel nauseated and the thought of breakfast repels food, one or two diapepsins will make you feel good and want to eat.

Anyone at the mercy of restaurants and lunch counters can fortify their stomach against trouble with one or two diapepsins after eating.

Get a 60-cent package of Pape's Diapepsin at any drug store. You'll enjoy the effect.

Harold Wooden Files Action Against Willite Company.

Harold Wooden, of this city, through his attorney, Ben L. Bennett, has instituted a suit in common pleas court at Lisbon for $20,000 damages and $150 for medical attention against the Ohio Willite Paving and Surfacing company for injuries alleged to have been received last March in a traffic accident on the Pleasant Heights hill.

Wooden claims that he and Sanford Bailey were walking the Lincoln highway near Pleasant Heights when they accepted an invitation to ride with Eugene Larkins, driver of a truck owned by the contracting firm. While descending the hill Larkins lost control of the truck and Wooden was thrown to the road, his arm broken in two places, his right knee lacerated, his hip and left hand injured. He alleges that he was confined in the City hospital for two weeks because of his injuries.

Police Seek Three Boys for Alleged Theft of Sedan

Police today were searching for three boys, described as being between 12 and 14 years of age, who are alleged to have stolen a Jewett sedan, belonging to C. V. Beatty, building contractor, while it was parked near the residence of Clifford Bough, College street, at 11:30 o'clock last night.

Charles Burdette, Lisbon taxi operator, was traveling the concrete road from Midland to Smiths Ferry shortly before last midnight when, he said, another machine struck his car at a point just east of Smith's Ferry. As he stepped from his automobile to investigate, Burdette alleged that three boys jumped from the other car and fled in the direction of East Liverpool.

Burdette reported the accident to the Midland police and the Beatty car was removed to a Midland garage. Beatty had reported the theft of his car to the local police and later it was learned that his car had figured in the Smiths Ferry crash.

The report found credence in a dispatch from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, who stated that Americans were being advised to evacuate all costal cities. There are 104 American supposed to be scottered about the interior where anti-foreign sentiment is strongest. Their situation today is not known.

PEKIN, Feb. 1.—China is laying down the tools of peace and war tonight for five days of feasting and celebration.

The Chinese New Year begins at midnight—a new year which is symbolized by the rabbit and which unfortunately does not promise to bring forth any greater peace and progress than did the past year, which was symbolized by the tiger.

Troops of the combatting armies have received a small bonus and are forgetting their enemy for a few days and even the bandits are quiescent.

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE for COLDS and COUGHS BUILDS STRENGTH OVER 70 YEARS OF SUCCESS

WOMAN AWARDED DAMAGES OF $800

As a result of a settlement in common pleas court at Lisbon, yesterday, Mrs. Aravilla C. Cullen, Columbiana, was awarded $800 damages against the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad for injuries alleged to have been suffered on July 30, 1925, when she was hurled from a Y. & O. car which she was boarding on Sixth street, East Liverpool. Mrs. Cullen had sued for $25,000.

Mrs. Cullen claims to have received injuries to her spine, neck, head and also to one eye when the car started as she was about to step on the rear platform.

SEVEN TAXICAB LICENSES ISSUED

Seven licenses for taxicabs have been issued by Mayor Ralph Benedum in keeping with the taxi regulating ordinance recently enacted by council, which became effective today.

Five of these licenses went to Albert McLean of the McLean-Yellow Cam company, while two were issued to Carl Hyatt. The fee for each car is $10 per year. Bonds providing for a $10,000 liability insurance and $1,000 property damage must also be posted by the operators for each car.

The fares are fixed at 35 cents for the first one-third of a mile and 10 cents for each additional one-third mile.

If you are suffering from ingrowing sympathy. If your world has narrowed down until it includes only "you and your wife, your son John and his wife." If, like the old Quaker, you say to your spouse, "Everybody's queer but thee and me—and sometimes I think thee's a little queer!" If your milk of human kindness is evaporating. If you find yourself skimming it or watering it—go to see "Private Izzy Murphy," now at the Ceramic theatre.

If you have begun to wonder whether the constitution of the United States really meant what it said when it spoke of this country as "a haven for the oppressed of all nations, without regard to race, color or previous condition of servitude." If you fellow Americans who happen to be of different ancestry than your own have degenerated in your mind into Wop, Bohunk, etc., then by all means go to see George Jessel in "Private Izzy Murphy."

Some are born "Murphy," some achieve worthiness of it, and some have it thrust upon them. Private Izzy got it in none of these ways. He simply took it. He cast the ancient and honorable name of "Goldberg" into the discard, taking in its place a name which would be a business asset in the Irish neighborhood of New York in which he had his delicatessen.

Izzy, with true Jewish reverence, had brought his parents from Russia as soon as his business venture had prospered. Of his change in name they never knew. Of his monetary dealings with the doughty Cohannigan of the Irish-American Packing company they knew and approved. But of their beloved Izzy's yearnings for the heart and hand of pretty Eileen, Cohannigan's daughter, they were blissfully ignorant.

Then came the World War and Izzy Murphy away overseas, with the Irish "Old 69th." Izzy, a private, first-class. A Murphy of the Murphies. Doing his bit valiantly. Wounded. In hospital. Then to his parents the crushing telegram, "Killed in Action."

How the hearts of all were as one in those days. Common humanity united by the bond of common suffering.

But the day when the gallant "69th"—what was I ft of them—came marching up Fifth Avenue, all arches and flags and cheering thousands, and drifting confetti Papa and Mamma Goldberg out to see them all, broken-hearted for the loss of their own, but glad for the others, who could welcome sons back. Then, glory be, who should they see but Izzy, their straight, their proud, their handsome Izzy—quick-stepping it among the Murphies and the Kellies and the Coogans!

BETHANY COLLEGE REDUCES STAFF

Reduction of the staff of athletic coaches, and an increase in the tuition fee was decided upon by the board of trustees of Bethany college, Bethany, at its mid year meeting yesterday in Pittsburgh. President Goodnight, also was authorized to employ a field secretary, and the English department was given an additional instructor for next year.

Athletic Director F. L. Nuss will be retained at the school, but he will be assisted only by a half time aid. Heretofore he had two assistants.

After the opinion had been expressed that the present tuition fee of $75 was too low, the trustees voted to increase it to $100.

The new field secretary, who will be given the title "executive secretary to the president" will do promotion work for the college.

The present faculty was renamed by the trustees, but appointment of the new English instructor was left for a later date.

WAR IS DECLARED ON AUTO OWNERS

H. S. White, field agent for the West Virginia state road commission, who is expected to arrive in Hancock county this week, announced yesterday that an active campaign had been planned to break up the practice of West Virginia automobile owners purchasing Ohio license tags.

"Information has reached headquarters at Charleston that the number of persons in West Virginia, especially in the panhandle, who have secured Ohio licenses for machines owned and operated in West Virginia is tremendous," Mr. White continued. "It is my aim to run down each and every one of these offenders, and have them punished."

He said that each and every one arrested will be fined $5 and costs, or about $11.50, for driving without proper licenses, and will be required to obtain a West Virginia title and license for the full year, no matter at what time of the year they are apprehended. The offenders are liable, also to a fine of $25 and costs for operating a car without a title, but this charge will not be pressed at this time, Mr. White said.

STATE TOBACCO TAX DECLINES

West Virginia manufacturers of tobacco and cigars paid $2,256,284.67 in federal taxes on their products last year, figures made public yesterday by the internal revenue bureau show. This gave the state rank as tenth among those paying taxes on manufactured tobacco.

More than two million dollars of the total was tax on manufactured tobacco. The amounts paid on each products are: Cigars, $204,509.61; cigarettes, $7,580.00; manufactured tobacco, $2,043.47; special taxes, cigarette paper, etc., $296.53. For 1925 West Virginia's total tobacco tax was $2,381,553.28, showing a decrease for the past year of $125,268.

For the nation the tax totaled $371,667,583. Among the states with large collections were: Virginia $50,878,843; Pennsylvania $19,390,241 and Kentucky $8,686,317.

Tailor finds way to overcome rheumatic stiffness and ache

A Philadelphia tailor has found a quick way of getting rid of stiffness in the hands and arms caused by constantly using a hot iron.

"I am by trade a presser," he writes. "I am always using a hot iron and my hands and arms get stiff. I have been using liniments for a long time and I find that Sloan's Liniment is the best. It always gives instant relief."

Sloan's gives real help because it stirs up your own bodily forces to throw off the trouble, and to restore normal, healthy action in the sick tissues.

Just pat it on lightly, without rubbing, and the first thing you know the aching and stiffness are gone. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

STUBBORN SKIN IRRITATIONS HEALED WITH CRANBERRIES

The mild acid juice found in Cranberries seems to kill the tiny skin parasite which is the direct cause of Eczema and most skin irritations. With the cause removed, the healing takes place quickly. Cranolene Healing Cream, used externally, is based on this discovery. In this cream the cranberry juices have been combined with soothing, cooling, healing oils. Instantly stops the itching and speedily restores the skin to natural health and color. Cranolene sold by druggists 35c, $1 and $2.50 or sent postpaid on receipt of price. Here's Real Relief From Neuritis

In 24 to 48 hours Pains Are Often Relieved and You Get Rest and Comfort again.

Torturing pains — the kind that pierce and burn and never seem to let up—that rob a man of his sleep—that make him just a bag of nerves and all worn out.

Those are the pains that dope and coal tar products can only partially relieve.

The safest and most efficient way to get rid of the persistent, nerve-racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take these little dark green capsules as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced if not almost banished those severe, torturing pains that have caused you so many sleepless nights. Continue for two or three days more or until you are satisfied with results.

It doesn't matter how long you may have suffered or whether your Neuritis is in the shoulder, arm, neck or legs, Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 should give you speedy relief. J. D. Holloway and Mathews Med. Store or any good druggist will be glad to supply you.

FIGURES GIVEN ON BOND ISSUE

Hancock County Alloted $693,555 for New Highways.

Hancock county would receive $693,555.25 under the provision of the new proposed $50,000,000 state bond issue which was passed in the lower house at the initial session of the legislature. Action on the measure was deferred in the senate until the long session which opens later this month.

Figures show that Ohio county would receive $703,362; Marshall $1,042,619.84 while Brooke would be given $556,558.63. The four counties of the panhandle would in return contribute approximately $10,000,000 to the issue.

Of the 1,740.95 miles of roads and grading paved or under contract the four counties would receive 108.43 miles at an estimated cost of $10,000,000. These statistics are based on a statement made by John Ulrich, one of the representatives of the above counties in the house of delegates.

PAIN, NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in elbows, arms, shoulders, feet, knees, legs, back, neck or body. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

WATCH THAT COLD!

This Old-Fashioned Remedy Will Help You

THAT cold you have is caused by a microbe! A tiny insignificant germ, but so powerful that he's killed bigger men than you!

Nature can handle him, if you give her a chance. He's not so terrible that you need be afraid of him—if you'll only let Nature deal with him. The trouble with so many folks is that they tie Nature's hands—don't give her a chance.

They steal her strength by letting their liver get sluggish and their stomachs get lazy. Then the cold microbe gets in his deadliest work—and Nature has an awful fight to win.

Give Nature a hand! Keep your stomach functioning properly. Take Dillingham's Plant Juice—Nature's own remedy for stomach disorders. Compounded of herbs, plants, roots, bark and blossoms, Dillingham's Plant Juice is pleasant to take and it works in Nature's own way, and leaves her free to deal with cold and other microbes.

Mrs. Sophie Lee of 110 Jackson St., Newark, N. J. writes to us:

"I was in a run-down condition, as I suffered from nerves and indigestion a year ago. My nerves were upset, and I was unable to get my proper rest and sleep. I had no ambition, felt weak, and my housework seemed a burden to me. Then somebody told me how good Plant Juice was, and I tried it. Well, it was only a question of five bottles and a few weeks, and I felt like myself again. My stomach is in perfect condition and my nerves are calm and steady. My sleep is sound and unbroken, and I wake feeling rested and refreshed. My housework comes twice as easy to me now, and I never tire."

Make your experience like Mrs. Lee's!

MAE MURRAY AT AMERICAN

Conway Tearle in Male Role in "Altars of Desire."

Not since "The Merry Widow" has Mae Murray had a picture that compared in artistry to "Altars of Desire," in which Conway Tearle plays the featured male role. This new production, which was directed by Christy Cabanne, had its first showing last night at the American theatre.

"Altars of Desire" is a delightful combination of comedy and drama that is never played with a heavy hand. Her Clare Sutherland is a new type for Miss Murray, in that it depends largely for its appeal on subtlety and whimsical situations. The first half of the picture the star plays with a pretty insouciance, and in the latter scenes proves herself an excellent dramatic actress.

Conway Tearle plays the part of John Elrod, a young Southerner who becomes enamored of Clare against his better judgment. Tearle gives an excellent picture of a man torn between his heart and his mind. It is a pleasure to see this actor in an outdoor part after so many dress-suit roles.

The story, adapted by Agnes Christine Johnston and Alice D. G. Miller from the original by Maria Thompson Daviess, lends itself unusually to picture treatment. It is the story of a Southern girl, who on her initial trip to Paris, meets and becomes fascinated by a Frenchman, Count Andre. He pursues her back to America, and makes every effort to make her run away with him, finally persuading her to do this during a momentary misunderstanding with John, a neighbor, whom it has long been planned she should marry. Andre, however, shows a bit of honor at the last minute, and confesses that he has a wife in Paris, whom he is suing for divorce, though he tries to force Clare to stay with him, and promises to marry her as soon as possible. In the ensuing struggle, Clare strikes Andre with a weapon which he has playfully given her to protect herself, and he falls, apparently dead. The following sequence is an extremely dramatic one, in which she goes to John for protection, and the denouement comes as a striking climax to the story.

Maude George has a delightful role as "Mrs. Pryor," the chaperone of Clare, and rival for the head of Count Andre. Andre Beranger, remembered as the "actor" in "The Parents People," plays Andre with a charming indifference, and Robert Edeson is seen in the role of Judge Sutherland, father of the heroine.

Albert Lewin wrote the screen play which was directed by Christy Cabanne, director of "The Midshipman," "The Masked Bride," and other successes. It is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture.

WELLSVILLE MAN AND SONS SEEK $30,000 DAMAGES

THREE SUITS AFTERMATH OF AUTO ACCIDENT

Raymond Taylor Names Traction Company in Petition.

CRASH ON OCT. 4

Charges Street Car Struck Stalled Machine.

Three damage suits, totalling $30,000, were filed today in common pleas court, Lisbon, against the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company by Raymond Taylor, residing near Fourth street, Wellsville, and his two sons, Kenneth and Charles, as a result of an auto mobile-street car collision in Wells avenue on October 4, 1926.

The eldest Taylor asks $15,000 and Kenneth and Charles, both minors, seek $5,000 and $10,000, respectively.

The plaintiffs are represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, of East Liverpool.

The crash occurred when the Taylor car, occupied by Mr and Mrs. Taylor and children, was struck by a west bound street car at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Taylor and the children, in an automobile, had gone to the American Sheet & Tin Plate plant in Wells avenue, where Taylor is employed.

Taylor got into the car and they drove to the road leading up Wells Hollow and were backing out, preparatory to turning around and going back down Wells avenue, when the engine stalled, the auto stopping on the tracks. According to the plaintiffs, the street car came up over the grade east of Wells Hollow and the collision occurred a few seconds later.

PENNSY BUILDS COALING TOWER

Will Aid Freight Trains Over Kensington Grade.

In order to facilitate the movement of freight over the Cleveland & Pittsburgh branch of the Pennsylvania road, since the opening of the new low-grade Bayard cut-off, the company is now spending $25,000 or more in the erection of a new coaling tipple and water tanks between Kensington and East Rochester.

Throughout the day, an average of one train every 30 minutes passes over the road at Kensington, and on account of the heavy grade on the Salineville hill many engines have been unable to make Bayard for water. It has frequently happened that trains have had to be stopped and engines detached and run to Bayard for water and then back to their trains.

The low ground being used for this improvement is now being filled and will be brought up to the level of the tracks. The water will be obtained from Sandy Creek. It is said the new coal tipple will be of sufficient size to hold five or more cars of coal, and engines will be coaled by the gravity system.

DEUVAL FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara L. Deuval, nee Young, 54 years old, who died Sunday night at her home in Eighteenth street, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence in charge of Evangelist William Moore, of Barnesville. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery, East Liverpool.

In addition to her parents, in Parkersburg, W. Va., she is survived by the following children: Roy, of Niles; Mrs. Leona Reed, Mrs. Gladys Saunders, Mrs. Effie Heckathorne, of Wellsville; Mrs. Ada Anderson, East Liverpool; Harry Deuval of Wellsville; three brothers and two sisters, Willis and Charles Young, of Parkersburg, W. Va.; Henry, of Toronto; Sarah and Elsie, of Parkersburg.

She was a member of the Church of Christ of East Liverpool.

SUPPORT CHURCH PROJECT HERE

Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Nazarene church of East Liverpool, and Solomon Bennett, also of East Liverpool, both members of the Nazarene advisory board of the Pittsburgh district, attended last night's revival service in the local mission.

Rev. Benedum, secretary of the advisory board, in an address to the Mission congregation, announced that a Nazarene church for Wellsville was an assured fact and that the district would stand by the efforts of the local organizers.

Rev. Earl Stillion, evangelist in charge of the services, last night spoke on the subject, "Going Back on God."

He urged his hearers not to go back on God "but to seek his pardoning grace," illustrating his address with examples from his own memory.

Six professed conversion at the close of the services.

SALINEVILLE

"Farmers' Day" is to be observed by the Salineville Kiwanis club, Thursday at their noon luncheon meeting at the United Presbyterian church. Each Kiwanian will invite and entertain at lunch, three farmers. The committee includes J. G. Grant, E. L. Hart and John W. Skinner. The speaker is to be Rev. Peter W. MacCaulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Lisbon. The luncheon will be served in the dining room of the church. The farmers of this community were entertained by the club last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Quint Ludlam were called to East Liverpool Saturday on account of the death of the latter's sister, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Friday night at her home on Moore street. The funeral service was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the home, Rev. J. F. Dimit, officiating.

The class of boys known as the John Johnson class of the Presbyterian church, was organized recently in the home of their teacher. Thomas Eason was made president, Paul Tolson vice president, William Miller secretary, and Donald Lucas, treasurer. They decided to meet on the second Friday evening in each month. After the organization, a social hour was spent, and Mrs. Johnson, mother of the teacher, served a lunch. Fourteen members of the class were present.

Ernest Randolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Randolph, on East Main street, is suffering from an attack of grip.

Mrs. Adda Golden fell on the steps of Attorney S. E. McCormick's house, on Main street, Saturday. She was badly bruised and shaken.

Harry Smith, employed at Ambridge, Pa., was a Sunday visitor with his mother, Mrs. Latta Smith.

Carol Maple was in Canton Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. Frank Maple who is a patient in the Mercy hospital.

Mrs. A. E. Smith, of East Liverpool, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. S. B. Larkins.

Allen Maple and S. B. Larkins were callers in East Liverpool, recently.

Elizabeth Ann, twelve-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Carnahan, Academy avenue, died at two-thirty o'clock Sunday afternoon, following a short illness.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carnahan, and one brother, Ralph, and one sister, Martha, at home. Funeral services were held this afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. A. M. Jenkins, pastor of the Church of Christ, officiating. Interment was made in the Woodland cemetery.

It is possible that the W. C. T. U. also will endeavor to enlist aid of federal authorities in Wheeling.

TWO ARRESTED ON RUM COUNT

Face Justice Dunham in Hammondsville Tonight.

John Anderson and Ton Martini, of the Piney Fork road, a short distance from Hammondsville, will face Justice T. B. Dunham, at Hammondsville, tonight, as a result of their arrest Sunday by officers of Dunham's court on liquor charges.

A complete manufacturing distillery was said to have been discovered by the officers. Anderson and Martini were released under bonds of $1,000.

Constable J. P. Tice and Deputies James P. Moran and J. W. Tice put the two men under arrest in a building on the farm. The men admitted having just destroyed 16 barrels of mash according to the officers. One barrel partly filled with mash was found by the officers, together with 10 sacks of sugar, a sack of corn, three quarts of whiskey, and a large supply of gasoline, a 100-gallon still, and several prestolite tanks.

Arrested for Fighting.

John C. Tice, who was released some time ago by the county commissioners on a liquor violation charge filed in Squire B. M. Rutledge's court at Toronto, was arrested on Sunday morning with Oakley Tice and George Wilson all of Hammondsville. The men are charged with fighting by Constable J. P. Tice and Deputy J. W. Tice. They will be given a hearing this evening before Squire T. B. Dunham, at Hammondsville, all having been released on bonds.

The fight was alleged to have started in Cream City and to have continued to Hammondsville where the men were arrested at 2:30 a. m. Following the arrest of the men the officers with Deputy James P. Moran with a search warrant went to the home of Wesley Tice at Cream City where the officers found a small quantity of whiskey. Wesley Tice was not at home but a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach or a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

GYPSUM PLANS "AD" CAMPAIGN

Tie-up With Dealers Arranged in East Liverpool Zone.

A unique tie-up between the advertising and merchandising of a national manufacturer and his dealer-establishment was announced at the silver anniversary convention of the United States Gypsum company, which just recently was concluded in Chicago. For the central distributing section, for example, where the company has a well organized dealer-establishment, a presentation of the entire 1927 advertising problem and the methods proposed for meeting the problem, was prepared for each dealer and was handed to E. B. Sheppard, the company's representative in this district, for personal delivery.

Speaking before the more 400 sales representatives attending the convention, a noted authority on advertising said:

"The problem of the individual dealer's advertising is one of the most serious confronting the national advertiser. The manufacturer with his large annual appropriation can make up his program, aiming to reach and influence every possible purchaser of his products, and lining-up behind his dealer-establishment every conceivable means of support. But unless the campaign has the earnest support of the dealer an enormous waste in inevitable.

"The manufacturer cannot do the dealer's advertising for him. Such methods have been tried many times and have proven costly and ineffectual. The United States Gypsum company, for example, has a 1927 appropriation of $1,000,000, but an apportionment of this sum among the company's more than 12,000 dealers would be hardly enough for any one dealer, and an attempt to apportion it to the satisfaction of all dealers would be a virtual impossibility."

It then was pointed out that more than six months ago the United States Gypsum company started work on a plan that would make the individual dealer's advertising an integral part of the entire edvertising and merchandising plan of the company, and that from this tie-up the dealer's own advertising would derive strong support. It is this completed plan that E. B. Sheppard now is delivering to the company's dealers in this city.

BULGER DRUGS OUSTED FROM Y LEAGUE LEAD

SENIOR cagers threw the Bulger Drugs out of first place in the "Y" league race last night when they set the pill rollers down to defeat by the score of 34 to 32.

The game was what might be called a real basketball combat, the Seniors scoring the winning basket in the last few seconds of play, Canne making the decisive double pointer.

The game was the best played contest that has been seen in the league, the teams being well matched. The Seniors outclassed the pill rollers in the first and last periods while the drug store lads had a big edge in the other two quarters.

The Seniors won the game from the foul lines, counting twelve points on free throws while the Drugs found the baskets twice on free throws.

The Drugs outscored their opponents from the field, sinking 15 baskets while the Seniors found the rims for eleven double pointers.

The Seniors led in the first quarter, 8 to 6. The Drugs outplayed the Seniors in the second period and when the first half was up they were leading by a 16 to 11 count.

During the first five minutes of the final half the pill rollers played their opponents off their feet, rusning the basket for six straight double markers while their opponents made only one foul line point. With the score 28 to 12 the Seniors began to outplay the league leaders and they had cut the Drugs' lead down to a 28 to 19 score when the third quarter was over.

The Seniors still continued to gain and they succeeded in tying up the score, 32 to 32. With a minute and a half to go, Canne dropped one through to win the game.

Canne and Crawford were the scoring stars for the Seniors while Cannon and Greene enacted similar roles for the Bulger Drugs.

Seniors		Bulger Drugs
Canne	F	Cannon
Sayre	F	Wain
McGraw	C	Greene
McConville	G	Reese

POWERS TO PLAY CHURCH QUINTET

The Power Class basketball team will clash with the Baptist church outfit tonight at 8 o'clock on the M. E. court.

The Powers recently met their first defeat of the season in a trip to Salineville, where they were downed by Tom Cartwright's county amateur league squad, 36 to 23.

A lot of field goals were shaken out of the Power five's satchels when their car skidded off the road near Highlandtown and turned over.

MORRIS WINS TWO IN CUE TOURNEY

Creed Morris defeated Lester Herbert, 75 to 61, in his opening match at the American last night, and then took on D. Bennetto and won the second, 75 to 44.

Matches scheduled tonight are: Frank Sainer vs Ed Reney; Bill Osborne vs. Tom Watson.

Game Association To Urge Speed In State Park Work

At the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association held recently at Lisbon, it was arranged to send a committee of members to Columbus to confer with the department of public works and the department of agriculture relative to the progress in improvement of state park at Guilford in Hanover township. The committee will urge a speeding up of operations.

It is also probable that this committee will also discuss the existing situation with Gov. A. V. Donahey.

Officers elected for the association at this meeting were: President, John King, Salem; vice president, John Chisholm, Salem; secretary-treasurer, J. C. Miller, East Liverpool.

Consideration will be given the date for the annual field meet of this association at its next meeting, it is said, but the event will be held at Guilford as it was during the last two years.

TIE IN CHURCH LOOP POSSIBLE

First half season of the Sunday school basketball league will wind up this week with games scheduled on Thursday and Saturday nights and the possibility of a three-way tie for the title existing.

The Methodists and the Christians will clash Thursday night at 7 o'clock on the M. E. court. The Methodist Protestants will meet the Methodists Saturday night at the "Y" at 8:30 o'clock, the game being preceded by an exhibition between the Lutherans and Baptists.

ROSELAWNS LOSE TO SMITH NEWS

Despite the fact that they bowled a 2,013 score, the Roselawns dropped two out of three to the Smith-News bowlers last night at the Liberty. The Roselawns shot the works in the first frame, to win the match with a score of 724, but dropped back in the second and third engagements, with scores of 644 and 645, while the News quint, bowling along consistently, turned in scores of 682, 677, and 691.

Howell contributed high series count of 478 and tied with Strabley for high game tally of 182.

'Y' YOUNGSTERS IN TWO EVENTS

Baseball throw for accuracy was the competitive event for "Y" Elementaries in their regular week-end meet, Robert Dietz, of the Iroquois team, making the winning toss. Others finished as follows: Second, Walter Baker, Sioux; third, Robert Caughey, Seminoles; fourth, Donald Echert, Seminoles; fifth, Everett Shingleton, Sioux.

The team scores: Iroquois, 378; Sioux, 275; Seminoles, 275; Pawnees, 207.

The Juniors competed in the plunge for distance in the swimming pool. The winners were: Samuel Brown, Mohawks, first; Kenneth Salsberry, Mohicans, second; Robert Earl, Mohawks, third; George Ganas, Mohicans, fourth; Lester Tucker, Mohicans, fifth.

The team scores: Mohicans, 306; Mohawks, 298.

GRIFF OUTBIDS "HUG" IN QUEST FOR EX-INDIAN

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. — Now that Tris Speaker has decided to "unslough" a lot of ball games for Washington (D. C.) the boys in the back room are wondering if the ink ran out of Jake Ruppert's fountain pen or if Connie Mack's purchases of minor league stars depleted the treasury of the Philadelphia mint.

The idea of Clark Griffith, who once gave an intimate friend two passes to a ball game, outbidding the tall tactician of Bilpenntown and the near-beer man of New York appears about as logical as Hornby's kissing Breadon.

From all accounts, the dollar didn't cut such an important factor in the negotiations after all. Miller Huggins is understood to have offered a little more money to Spoke than Griffith, but made it plain to the gray eagle that he would have to try for a position on the Yanks, just as a freshman has to show all he has to win recognition from his high school coach.

With Ruth, Combs and Meusel hitting on all six, there was some doubt that Spoke would be able to be a regular. So since Spoke had no desire for bench duty, he passed up N. Y.

It was known that Spoke wanted to play in Philadelphia with Eddie Collins, his good friend. But those in the know say that Connie had spent so much coin of the realm in getting Collins, Wheat and numerous high priced minorities that he didn't feel like making his bank roll so small that he would not need a rubber band at all.

So Griffith won. It is not unlikely that Spoke, being a good business man, conferred with Connie and Hug just to make Griffith raise the arte plenty. Such tactics are common in the canvasback industry where fight managers play one promoter against the other, but it is something new in the modern slave game where a player is restricted as to where he performs.

The fact that Spoke signed with Washington will please the magnates who like their pennant races tight. They figure that Washington will now be a pennant contender along with the Yanks, Athletics and Indians. So everybody should be happy.

And as to Cobb, he announced today that he would sign with the team that offers him the best financial inducements. Unlike Speaker, he evidently has no objections to picking up splinters in his pants.

Nats Now Boast One Of Best Outfields In Either Circuit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Tris Speaker will play in centre field for the Washington Senators next year.

Announcement of the signing of the Texas star was made by Clark Griffith, owner of the club. He declined to say what terms had been agreed upon, but, it is understood, the ex-Cleveland manager has been paid a stiff price for a one-season engagement. Griffith, who is not exactly loose with his checkbook, evidently figured Tris as a boxoffice attraction that would pull his salary through the turnstiles.

The addition of Speaker to the Washington club gives the Nats one of the strongest outfields in either league—Goose Goslin, Speaker, and Sam Rice. All hit consistently and considerably above .300.

Speaker will report at Tampa, the Nats' training ground on March 1.

BRACE CRAWFORD COPS ANOTHER

Brace Crawford, leading the contenders in the Academy three cushion billiard tournament, last night increased his percentage by defeating Harry Bennett, 25 to 16.

Miller and Small will play tonight.

Forward Pusey Out Of Series Opener; Clark To Get Call

Second Battle Between Leading Pennant Contenders to be Staged Thursday Night on High School Court Here.

WITH Forward Tom Pusey out of the lineup, Bill Powell's Elks, tied with Damascus for the first half leadership in the county amateur cage circuit, will tangle with the Damascus Quakers tonight at Damascus in the opener of the three-game series that will determine the disposition of the elusive bunting.

The two teams will play again on Thursday night, this time on the high school floor here, and if a third contest is necessary, it will be played at Salem, a neutral floor.

Pusey, who has been working with Carl Wilson on the forward posts, injured a foot in the Alliance game here last week and has been unable to use his pedal extremity, for basketball purposes, since that engagement.

As a result, it is likely that Kenneth Clark will line up with Wilson tonight and the former Ohio State university lad is expected to get his share of field goals before the scrap is over. Wilde will start at the pivot post with Anderson and McConville at guards.

Jack Redman, of Midland, who was qualified by Manager Ray Adam at Sunday's league meet, reported last night to Coach Powell and will make the trip to the north end of the county. He plays a center or guard post.

The revised second half schedule, for all teams of the league, was announced today as follows:

February 8.
Columbiana at Damascus.

February 9.
Salineville at Columbiana.
Salem at Lisbon.

February 10.
Lisbon at East Liverpool.

BELLAIRE AND AKRON CENTRAL NEXT ON SLATE

AFTER a couple of weeks of basketball thrills that certainly should be ample to satisfy the wants of the most exacting customer, what with victories over Steubenville, Lisbon, Bellaire, Youngstown Chaney and others, Coach Lorah's high school passers will display their talents this week entirely in foreign fields, permitting Ceramic City fans to regain their normal aplomb and composure before bringing on Martin's Ferry and East Palestine in the next home attractions.

Practices were under way today for a couple of tough nuts appearing on the Blue and White schedule this week and if hard work will count anything at all in the Friday and Saturday decisions, the locals should at least hold their own against the oncoming foes.

Bellaire is slated for Friday night and this will be followed up with Akron Central on Saturday night—two hard games in two nights and both on long trips.

The combination does not favor the East Liverpool passers in the least, Coach Lorah impressing on his charges that they will have to step along at top form all the way in each of the engagements if they are to annex them to the victory column.

The Blue outclassed Bellaire here January 21, but the visitors were doing the traveling that night. If high school can repeat the performance again on Friday night, this time on Bellaire's own court, the stunt will certainly mean a feather in their cap.

It is bound to be a gruelling contest, inasmuch as Bellaire, to begin with, will be anxious to atone for their defeat here. Coming before the Akron Central game, it will place a strain of considerable degree on the endurance of the local lads.

P. A. makes good with pipe-particular men

THE more you demand of a pipe-tobacco, the more you will enjoy this prime favorite of experienced jimmy-pipers. Prince Albert commands a pipe to stand and deliver. Briar or corncob. Calabash or meerschaum. It doesn't matter. The tobacco's the thing!

Fling back the hinged lid on a tidy red tin of P. A. Breathe deeply of that rich, rare aroma, promise of a wonderful taste to come. Tamp a load flush with the brim and light up. Now you have it . . . that taste . . . that class-by-itself taste of Prince Albert!

Cool as Pike's Peak. Sweet and fragrant as a breeze through a greenhouse. Fragrant and mild . . . a mildness that lets you smoke pipe-load after pipe-load, with never a tongue-bite or a throat-parch. Yet with that full, rich body which you demand in a smoke.

Considered from any angle, Prince Albert is jimmy-pipe joy of the highest degree. Smoke it fast or smoke it slow. Smoke it after breakfast, right up to bedtime. It is always delightful, always friendly. If you don't know P. A., you don't know what your pipe can bring you.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

PLANS COMPLETED FOR BIG DANCE

Plans have been completed for the dance tomorrow night at Rock Springs park under the auspices of the Welfare department of the Homer Laughlin China company for the benefit of the new social and athletic club recently organized by employes of the company.

Music will be furnished by Dan Gregory's famous orchestra of New York.

GAME SOCIETY TO HOLD MEET

Delegate O. O. Allison Plans to Attend Session Tonight.

Members of the Hancock County Fish and Game association will meet this evening in the office of Justice John A. Mylar in the Aaron building, Fifth street.

Delegate O. O. Allison, of Chester, who represents Hancock county in the lower branch of the state legislature will be present and discuss some of the proposed changes to the present game laws which were introduced at the opening session of the state lawmakers.

Since the formation of the club several weeks ago 20 new members have been added. Rules and regulations for the society will be read at this session.

SPECIAL MEETS DRAW CROWDS

Large crowds are attending the evangelistic meetings in the Church of the Nazarene being conducted by Rev. Edward C. Oney of Ashland, Ky.

Special features tonight will be music by the orchestra of the Nazarene church of East Liverpool. Evangelist Stella B. Crooks, of Chicago, who closed a series of meetings Sunday night in the Chester Nazarene church will also be present and assist in the services. Sermon will be delivered by Rev. Oney.

BLAIRSVILLE MAN HOLDING SERVICES

Revival meetings in the First Methodist Episcopal church are growing in interest and being largely attended. The services are being conducted by Rev. John Gill of Blairsville, Pa., and the pastor, Rev. W. E. Dean.

Services will be held every night for the remainder of the week. Special music is being featured.

Shop Meet Arranged.

Rev. John Gill, of Blairsville, Pa., who is conducting a revival campaign in the First Methodist Episcopal church, will speak at noon meeting to be held Friday in plant No. 6 of the Homer Laughlin China company.

Naturally a lot of people are wondering how the accused ball players will appear in their oats of white.—Marion Star.

the police, or with private agencies, such as the Anti-Saloon league

They will know the duties of all the other officers connected with the courts, the terms of the courts, the duties of the grand jury and when it meets, what an indictment is, what outside help the grand jury may receive, and whether there is any other way than through a grand jury proceeding that a person may be charged with crime.

How a citizen may charge another with a crime, how an accused person can avoid going to jail when he has been charged with a crime, whether all offenses are bailable, and bailable as a matter of the right of the accused or at the discretion of the court, what limits are put upon the court's discretion, who may be accepted as bondsmen, what the requirements are as to security, and what precautions are taken to prevent a bondsmen from exceeding his financial responsibility, are the questions asked to cover the next step in a criminal proceeding.

How Accused is Tried.

Taking up the actual trial, the women will learn how much time elapses, as a rule, before an alleged criminal is brought to trial, whether women serve on juries and to what extent, what can be done about it if women do not serve on juries in a given jurisdiction, how a jury panel is chosen, what talesmen are and how they are selected, how many challenges may be used by the state and by the accused, whether a case may be tried by a judge without a jury, the formal steps in a trial, how a jury arrives at its verdict, who determines the punishment in case of a verdict of guilty, and what becomes of the prisoner after he has been convicted and sentenced.

Withholding of judgment, suspension of sentence, paroling on probation, and the indeterminate sentence, as features of judicial systems, will be studied and the women are asked to formulate and state opinions as to the good and bad points of all.

Going to jail or prison, so to speak, the women will list the various places of punishment maintained by their states and the classes of offenders received at each institution. They will ascertain whether young and old offenders and the sexes are segregated, and if not, why not, and what can be done about it. They will also inform themselves as to indeterminate sentence laws, and how they work, and as to a habitual criminal act.

Then as a final bit they are expected to memorize the definitions of a dozen or so legal phrases, such as due process of law, burden of proof, presumption of innocence, hearsay evidence, and the like.

Having amassed all this information the women will fill out blanks calling for facts that will cover the entire records of their local courts, and when these data have been assembled and co-ordinated there will be no doubt as to what the courts of the county are doing, even if there still should be disagreements as to what is wrong with them.

All this work is being carried on under the supervision of Mrs. Edward Franklin White, of Indianapolis, who is the chairman o fthe division of law observance of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. White is an attorney and has the distinction of being the first woman elected to a state office in Indiana, that of reporter of the supreme court.

Mrs. White says that her survey, although it is only getting fairly under way, has already disclosed some startling information. The public, congress, and state legislatures, to say nothing of the people identified with the judiciary of the nation, will probably receive a jolt in the near future when this information is revealed.

EAST END

Gruber Class Meeting.
Members of the Gruber class of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church will meet Thursday night with Mrs. Arthur Hill at her home in Pennsylvania avenue.

Church Reception Held.
Large crowd attended the reception for new members last night in the Tabernacle Church of Christ. Diversified program was given.

PASTOR HOLDING SPECIAL MEETS

Rev. J. Lloyd McQueen, pastor of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church, is preaching this week at the revival services in the church. He is being assisted by John Guy, song leader and personal worker.

The meetings in the church began several weeks ago in charge of Rev. Gene Phillips of Trinway, O.

SAFETY BRIDGE BEING ERECTED

Work is progressing on the new concrete safety bridge at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing at Vanport. It will probably be completed within the next two months. Cost of the improvement is being shared by the county and railroad company.

Lodge Meeting Tonight.
Eureka circle No. 86, Protected Home Circle, will meet tonight in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Regular business will be transacted.

Class Meet Scheduled.
Members of class No. 13, of the Second Presbyterian church, will meet Thursday with Mrs. Alma Richey at her home in McKinnon avenue. Mrs. Mary Bulger and Mrs. Mary Hanley will be associate hostesses.

Mid Week Services.
Prayer meeting services will be held tomorrow night in the various churches of this section of the city. Pastors will be in charge of the devotionals.

Scouts to Meet.
Members of the Boy Scout troop will meet Friday night in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Session will be in charge of the scoutmaster.
